DOUBLE FATAL — An unidentified man studies the cars which crashed head-on yesterday in Santa Venetia, killing a woman and a teenage girl and leaving another woman in critical condition. The accident occurred, according to officers, after the woman and girl accepted a ride from a neighbor in the car on the left. Shortly after, the car on the right apparently crossed the center line on North San Pedro Road, hitting the white vehicle head-on.

Two Killed In Head-On Collision

A Santa Venetia woman and her teen-age friend were killed yesterday shortly after they had accepted a ride with a young neighbor and a car struck his vehicle head-on.

Killed in the collision, which occurred at 3:35 p.m. on North San Pedro Road near Venetia Oaks in Santa Venetia were Barbara Haydee Tapia, 41, of 702 Rosal Way, and Maritza Rodrigues Trejos, 14, of Sausalito, who had been staying with Mrs. Tapia.

The driver of the car in which they were riding, Kirk Brian Beleen, 16, of 650 Rosal Way, suffered only minor cuts, according to the California Highway Patrol, but the driver of the other vehicle, Doris Helene Knipscher, 48, of 826 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia, was critically injured.

Highway Patrol officers said Mrs. Tapia and her friend were waiting for a bus when young Beleen offered them a ride down San Pedro Road.

Beleen probably escaped serious injury because he was the only one in the car wearing a seat belt, the highway patrol said.

Officers had not yet been able to interview Mrs. Knipscher, who was being treated in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital for chest injuries.

Mrs. Tapia and Miss Trejos both suffered broken necks, according to Bill J. Thomas, coroner's deputy.

Mrs. Tapia, a native of Panama, was the wife of Mario J. Tapia.

Miss Trejos was the daughter of Mercedes Trejos of 34 Crescentia Lane, Sausalito.

Autopsies were to be performed today on the two, both of whom were dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Funeral arrangements were pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

High Court Is Firm On Executions

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its June 29 ruling that the death penalty is "cruel and unusual punishment" forbidden by the Constitution.

New arguments were requested by Georgia and Texas, which originated the cases on which the historic 5-4 decision was based, and by District Attorney Arlen Specter of Philadelphia.

The high court seldom reconsiders a ruling, particularly one as far-reaching and as long under advisement as the death sentence cases.

Reconsideration may be accomplished only by vote of a majority, which must include a justice who sided with the majority in the decision itself.

After announcing its judgment in June, the Court returned a big backlog of capital punishment appeals to the various states for appropriate action.

Georgia asked for rehearing of 13 of its cases on the ground, among others, that the Court had issued a decision of "countrywide proportions" instead of limiting it to Georgia's own circumstances.

Texas, asking for a rehearing of Elmer Branch's appeal, said the decision was based on "the blind generalities of statistics." Branch, a black, was convicted of raping a 65-year-old white woman.

Supreme Court Supports Ruling On Nonpublic School Subsidies

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court, acting in an Ohio case, today barred as unconstitutional any direct subsidies from state funds to parents of nonpublic school children.

The Court did not issue an opinion on the issue but the justices let stand a ruling of April 17 in which a special three-judge federal panel in Columbus struck down the Ohio plan as an "unconstitutional establishment of religion."

The Supreme Court late last term banned state payments for salaries of parochial school teachers in Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. The Ohio legislature enacted the direct student subsidy program after those rulings.

The law provided a minimum $600 per pupil allocation for public school students and a $90 payment for those in private schools.

The case was one of hundreds disposed of by the newly convened Court on its first decision day. The actions came in the form of a stream of orders either rejecting or accepting appeals submitted both last year and this.

In two cases, the Court refused to reconsider two decisions last term in which Justice William H. Rehnquist was asked to disqualify himself because he had served as a Justice Department official when they first originated.

One involved a ruling that an aide to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, must testify before a Boston grand jury on a case involving the Pentagon Papers.

The other involved the Army's right to conduct secret surveillance of civilians. Rehnquist rejected both requests that he step aside so that the cases could be reargued and decided without his vote.

In other major actions, the Court:

Agreed to hear a claim by a group of black school children that Mississippi authorities are illegally supplying textbooks to private white academies set up to evade integration orders.

Let stand state court rulings which declared the University of California could not fire black militant Angela Davis because she acknowledged openly she was a Communist.

Let stand a ruling which narrowed the application of the Freedom of Information Act, designed to make federal records available to the public.

The ruling was handed down last May 4 by the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a case involving investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) of the Occidental Petroleum Corp. and its president, Armand Hammer.

Rejected an appeal by two Mississippi officials from a ruling they were liable for damages stemming from the arrest and jailing of 163 Negroes who paraded in Natchez in 1965 without a permit.

Ginzburg Out Of U.S. Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Publisher Ralph Ginzburg, accusing the Supreme Court of "high crimes and treason," was freed today from the Lewisburg federal prison where he served eight months of a three-year sentence on a 1963 obscenity conviction.

"I will be vindicated," Ginzburg said in a statement read at the gate of the Allenwood prison farm.

He stepped out of the prison farm at 8:30 a.m. and was met by his wife, Shoshana. Ginzburg, dressed in a conservative black suit, stood in the 30 degree weather for 15 minutes while he read his statement to newsmen.

Break In Talks By Kissinger

PARIS (UPI)—Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign policy adviser, interrupted his third day of secret talks with North Vietnam officials today and conferred wih French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann on the progress of his private peace negotiations.

Both French and U.S. government officials confirmed that Kissinger interrupted his talks with Le Duc Tho, a member of the ruling North Vietnam Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, to talk with Schumann at a secret meeting place, their second meeting in three weeks.

Schumann then reported to French President Georges Pompidou on his conference with Kissinger, French officials said. What was said also remained secret—the only official word both in Washington and Saigon was that the peace talks have reached a "delicate" stage.

Exactly where and when and what—Kissinger reported to the French government official was wrapped in mystery, as have been all of Kissinger's activities during his 19 trips to Paris to meet at secret hideaways with the North Vietnamese negotiators.

The only hard news in the Paris talks were that Kissinger and his deputy, Gen. Alexander Haig, Jr., fresh from a visit to Saigon and talks with President Nguyen Van Thieu were holding an unprecedented third day of talks today with the North Vietnamese. Kissinger was expected to fly back to Washington tonight.

In Washington White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined to "characterize in any way" the secret talks. But he said Kissinger would probably report to Nixon on Wednesday. He said there have been continual cable communications from Paris to the White House, although Kissinger has not spoken directly to Nixon.

Ziegler also said there was no connection whatever between the continuation of the talks and the nationwide address Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern willdeliver tonight outlining his plan to end the war in Vietnam.

The flurry of activity in Paris coincided with another 45-minute meeting in Saigon between U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Thieu, their second in five days. The talks were thought to include discussion of the Communist demands that Thieu be dumped as one price for a negotiated settlement of the war.

Meanwhile, in Saigon, South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said today the Paris peace talks were "at an extremely delicate stage."

The foreign minister made the remark to reporters at the opening in downtown Saigon of an exhibition of captured Communist weapons.

Chance Is Still For More Rain

A drenching downpour which dumped about an inch of rain on Marin yesterday may return today, with weathermen predicting a 40 per cent chance of showers tonight.

Though rain fell sporadically throughout the night, it had stopped by early morning. A 20 per cent chance of rain is predicted for tomorrow.

Rainfall reported in reported in Marin communities in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today was: Petaluma, .64 inch; Bolinas, .98; Mill Valley, .94; Belvedere, .87; Novato, .98; Larkspur, 1.1; Ross, 1.28; Corte Madera, .83; Fairfax, 1.0 and San Anselmo, 1.17.

PEKING (UPI-DPA)—West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel flew into Peking from Tokyo today for a four-day visit during which he will sign a communique establishing diplomatic relations with China, the New China News Agency (Hsinhua) reported.

Senate Busing Foes Fail In Cloture Try

Liberals May Be Able To 'Talk Bill To Death'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to cut off debate on antibusing legislation, increasing chances that northern liberals may be able to talk the proposal to death.

Supporters of the measure, including southerners and some northerners, failed to muster the two-thirds vote needed to invoke cloture — the Senate's gag rule.

The vote was 45 to 37 in favor of the debate-limitation move — 10 votes shy of the necessary two-thirds majority.

A second vote to choke off debate is scheduled for Wednesday —with the possibility of a third such vote Thursday if the second vote also fails.

It was widely believed the Dixie bloc had enough votes to pass the House-approved bill, which would virtually halt all long distance busing of school children. But with final congressional adjournment possibly this weekend, the bill's backers may not get the chance to prove it unless they can stop the liberals from holding the floor against the bill.

The House meanwhile tentatively scheduled a late afternoon vote on the other major issue which must be settled before adjournment —President Nixon's request for a $250 billion ceiling on federal spending.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said he doubted the Senate would vote to end the debate against the busing legislation.

At stake is a measure, approved by the House in August and strongly supported by the administration, that would forbid busing as an integration tool except as a last resort — and then no further than the second nearest school to a pupil's home.

It would also permit reopening of hundreds of busing cases decided by court decrees in the past.

Northern liberals branded the measure a "dangerous" reversal of integration gains of the past two decades and seized on the filibuster strategy—the keystone of Southern opposition to civil rights laws in years past—to block the bill.

But supporters of the measure, including some moderates from northern states where busing is a hot campaign issue, forecast "chaos" across the country if Congress doesn't act to halt the practice that polls show both blacks and whites oppose.

"For the most part, I am convinced that the opposition people feel forced busing is not a reflection of bigotry or discrimination," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., the assistant Senate GOP leader and a staunch busing foe. "It is a reflection of concern for their children.

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Monday, the "second nearest school" approach would make poor white neighborhoods that adjoin black ghettos bear the brunt of desegregation while leaving well-off white suburbs untouched.

"Antibusing proponents are deceiving working-class white Americans that antibusing bills will protect them from the supposed evil of desegregation," Kennedy said.

NIXON LEAD DOWN A BIT IN NEW POLL

DETROIT (UPI) — George S. McGovern was to go on national television this afternoon on the heels of a new Louis Harris public opinion poll which shows the Democratic presidential candidate still trailing President Nixon by almost a 2-1 margin.

In his television talk, McGovern was to tell voters, point-by-point, how he would stop the bombing, withdraw all U.S. forces from Indochina, free all prisoners of war within 90 days of his inauguration and cut off military aid to the Saigon regime.

His half-hour address, taped Sunday at the Capitol, was to be aired at 4:30 p.m. PDT.

The Harris poll results, gathered Oct. 3-5 and released today, gave Nixon a 60 per cent to 33 per cent lead. The 27-point lead was only one less than the 59-31 margin Sept. 19-21.

GOP Espionage 'Planned In 1971'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Post today quoted sources including an assistant attorney general of Tennessee as saying that President Nixon's campaign committee had planned political espionage against the Democrats since mid-1971.

"The Nixon forces, using funds from GOP campaign contributions, attempted to discredit individual Democratic presidential candidates and disrupt their campaigns, according to federal investigators. 'Intelligence work' is normal during a campaign and is said to be carried out by both political parties," the Post said.

"But the investigators said what they uncovered goes far beyond what is normal, and is unprecedented in its extent and intensity."

At the White House, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted that a spokesman for Nixon's re-election committee had already denied the substance of the Post report.

"I have nothing more to add to that," Ziegler said repeatedly as reporters peppered him with questions. He referred queries to Nixon's statements denying any involvement in the Watergate incident and quoted Nixon as saying no one "presently employed" by the White House or the campaign committee was involved in the affair.

By implication Ziegler appeared to extend that disclaimer to political sabotage although he declined to say so directly.

"Ther President's remarks that he made about this kind of activity in the campaign process are clear and they stand on the record," Ziegler said.

The Post listed among its sources FBI and Justice Department files; Assistant Attorney General Alex B. Shipley of Tennessee; and three lawyers—Roger Lee Nixt of Dennison, Iowa, Kenneth Griffiths of Atlanta and Peter Dixon of San Francisco.

The newspaper said the espionage campaign was uncovered when five men were arrested June 17 inside Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building.

The five, a White House aide and an attorney for Nixon's campaign committee—both of whom resigned shortly after the arrests—were indicted in August on charges of burglary and illegal electronic surveillance. Their trial is expected to begin in a few weeks.

"Both at the White House and within the President's reelection committee," the Post said, "the intelligence-sabotage op-

Sabotage In 'Crying Speech,' Paper Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the alleged acts of political sabotage against Democratic presidential candidates by President Nixon's campaign committee was one that led to Sen. Edmund Muskie's crying incident in New Hampshire, according to the Washington Post.

"Law enforcement sources said that probably the best example of the sabotage was the fabrication —by a White House aide —of a letter to the editor of a New Hampshire newspaper alleging that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, condoned a racial slur on Americans of French-American descent as 'Canucks,'" the Post said.

"The letter was published in the Manchester Union Leader Feb. 24, less than two weeks before the New Hampshire primary. It in part triggered Muskie's politically damaging 'crying speech' before the newspaper's office."

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester paper, told the Post that he believed it to be authentic, but had never been able to find the person who signed the letter, a Paul Morrison of Deerfield Beach, Fla.

Other acts of sabotage, according to the Post sources in the FBI and Justice Department, involved following members of Democratic candidates' families; forging letters and distributing them under the candidates' letterheads; leaking false and manufactured items to the press; throwing campaign schedules into disarray; seizing confidential campaign files and investigating the lives of dozens of Democratic campaign workers.

Heart Transplant Patient's Condition

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — A 56-year-old man who became Stanford Medical Center's 49th heart transplant patient is reported in good condition.

The man, who along with the donor was not identified at the request of their families, is one of 17 surviving transplant patients. He got his new heart in an operation performed last Saturday.

South Viets Root Viet Cong From Hamlet North Of Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops rooted Viet Cong guerrillas from a hamlet only 15 miles north of Saigon and were moving to "surround" other Communist units outside the capital, military spokesmen said today.

Field reports said fighting flared today just outside Thanh Quy, a hamlet 10 miles north of the capital recaptured by government troops Monday. The Viet Cong's clandestine Liberation Radio said the Communists controlled 14 hamlets north of Saigon and a senior American adviser said today the claim was "accurate."

But the Saigon command said only three hamlets were under Communist control and that a fourth, Thanh Phuoc Khanh, about 15 miles from the capital, was reoccupied late Monday. UPI correspondent Arthur Higbee reported residents of Thanh Phuoc Khanh said it was the first time in memory Communist troops had been inside the hamlet.

In Cambodia, the high command said today Communist troops overran six government positions within 50 miles of Phnom Penh in their deepest penetration into the Mekong Delta in 2 1-2 years of war. Other guerrillas bombarded Phnom Penh's airport with 122mm rockets in an apparent effort to disrupt a national holiday.

U.S. warplanes Monday lashed North Vietnam with more than 330 air strikes, the heaviest raids in nearly a month, but B52 bombers carried out only two missions over the North. Air Force and Navy tactical bombers Monday flew the most strikes over the North since Sept. 17, the U.S. command said.

On the diplomatic front in Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth C. Bunker conferred for 45 minutes today with President Nguyen Van Thieu at the Presidential Palace. It was their third meeting in a week and political observers speculated that it concerned the peace talks in Paris.

Culprit In BART Train Crash—A Tiny Oscillator

OAKLAND, CALIF. (UPI) — A tiny oscillator that mistook a computer command to slow down a train and instead speeded it up, has been blamed for the first crash of the billion-dollar Bay Area Rapid Transit.

Edward Gregerman, BART superintendent of rolling stock and director of a team investigating last week's crash in which five persons were injured, made a report Monday to a board of inquiry.

A crystal oscillator in the sleek, two-car train received a computer command for it to slow to 27 miles an hour while it was 2,500 feet from its stopping point at Fremont station, southern terminus of the 28-mile section of Bart in operation.

But, Gregerman said, the oscillator actually transmitted to the motors a command which caused the train to accelerate to 70 mph. The brakeman pushed the emergency stop button, but the train was traveling at 26 mph when it plowed through a barrier at the end of the track and dropped to a parking lot below.

Active In India

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said recently that the CIA has become very active in India in the past two months. But, she said Monday, Amegican Secretary of State William Rogers has given assurances that the U.S. does not seek to interfere in the domestic affairs of other nations.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Tower Auction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The building which stands like a signpost at Times Square's "crossroads of the world" is going on the auction block — with $7 million as the starting price.

The famous old Times Tower, which signals the start of each new year for millions of television viewers and flashes news bulletins to passersby, was put up for sale Monday by Allied Chemical Corp., its owner since 1963. The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. is accepting bids.

Allied Chemical Chairman John T. Connor said his company bought the tower from the New York Times as a display center for a projected line of consumer products.

"But that never materialized," Connor said. "In the last few years we have been concentrating on automotive and other industrial and chemical products."

Support Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation designed to soften the ear-splitting din of modern American life won a boost yesterday from a coalition of labor, civil and medical groups.

The coalition, seeking to salvage a tough noise pollution bill from the congressional scrap heap as the legislative session neared its end, wrote every member of the Senate urging support for the strictest possible legislation.

"Of the 80 million Americans adversely affected by noise, conservative estimates indicate potential hearing damage to 40 million," the letter said. "This does not include an additional 17 million workers who have incurred job-related hearing damage. Aside from hearing damage, other health effects from noise include loss of sleep, anxiety and interference with classroom learning and with normal conversation. Moreover, 15 million people, in virtually every city in the country, are adversely affected by aircraft noise."

Duel Is Offing

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The finance minister and the tobacco retailer argued about taxes. It ended, according to the retailer, with the finance minister saying "I do not talk with an idiot. You can drop dead."

The retailer expects an apology. If he doesn't get it, he says two seconds will visit the finance minister and make arrangements for the duel.

Edouard Lekeux, Belgian association of tobacco retailers chairman, said Monday, "it's a question of honor. In our family honor is an important thing."

A spokesman for Finance minister Andries Vlerick would not comment. "I have not been able to contact the minister on this matter," he said.

Guerrilla Crackdown

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippine government announced today it has launched a military crackdown against an estimated 350 Communist guerrillas sighted in the mountain ranges east and northeast of Manila.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad made the announcement after a three-hour meeting attended by President Ferdinand E. Marcos, defense department officials and national police zone commanders to discuss the country's overall security situation under 17 days of martial law.

Tatad said a "50-strong" band of dissidents was sighted just 20 miles northeast of Manila in the mountains of Montalban. Another group of about 200 dissidents was reported trying to link up with 100 Communists in Quezon Province on the east coast of Luzon island.

Perjury Jury Hung

NEW YORK (UPI) — The third federal perjury trial of financier Louis E. Wolfson ended in a hung jury yesterday when the panel of eight men and four women said they were hopelessly deadlocked after four days of deliberations.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Gary Naftalis said he could not immediately comment on whether Wolfson, 60, would be tried a fourth time. He was charged with lying before a 1964 Securities and Exchange Commission investigation into alleged stock manipulation. Wolfson also was accused of falsifying an annual corporate report.

Another Killing

BELFAST (UPI) — A gunman murdered an Ulster part-time soldier today as the victim — a father of 8 children — turned to ave goodby to his wife on his way to work, the British army said.

John Roddy, a 50-year-old Roman Catholic and a sergeant in the Ulster Defense Regiment volunteer militia, was the 596th person to die in Northern Ireland's three years of strife between majority Protestants, minority Catholics, British troops and the Irish Republican Army.

The assassination occurred at Newry in County Down, near the border with the Irish Republic.

Russian 'Food Disaster' Spurs Soft Policy Stand

LONDON (UPI) — Russia's unparalleled food disaster is one reason behind the Soviet Union's accommodation with the United States and an apparent temporary "soft" foreign policy, according to a diplomaticassessment from the scene.

Details of the agricultural crisis now shaking the Soviet Union are coming gradually to light and latest reports suggest that the Soviet people would have gone hungry, "or even very hungry" this winter and next spring, had it not been for the purchase of vast amounts of U.S. wheat, the assessment said.

Behind the food crisis lie shortcomings in agriculture, transport and some sectors of the economy. They caused the leadership grave worries before American wheat supplies promised to avert the worst. The troubles are expected to continue plaguing the responsible authorities for some time to come, almost certainly next year and probably beyond, the assessment added.

The assessment said that while the food crisis was caused by bad weather, frost and drought, the trouble also was at least partially attributed to inefficiecy in the agricultural sector of the government, which has caused severe problems in the past and contributed to the fall of former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The production of wheat this year is estimated to fall between 20 and 30 million tons short of what was expected. The potato crop is just as bad if not worse, the assessment said.

Apparently the Soviet people have not yet been told that American supplies will save them from going hungry.

The Russians wanted 10-year credits from the United States for their vast wheat supplies at 2 per cent interest. They accepted a three-year period at 6 per cent, which indicates the urgency of the deal, the assessment said.

The diplomatic assessment said this is the background against which the Russo-American accommodation should be viewed, at least to some degree. Such grave problems at home which have been plaguing the leadership were believed to have their inevitable impact on international commitment on costly strategic arms development and on expansionist, dangerladen strategy, especially in the Middle East.

Much of the nation's effort was expected to be concentrated in coming months on the domestic scene and the consolidation of the international political scene, witp the projected European Security Conference an important element in this strategy.

Women Slashed In Restrooms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two women were slashed with a straight-edge razor Monday in separate incidents in San Francisco's financial district.

The women—Kristine Clinger, 22, and Anna M. Smith, 47— both said they were alone in skyscraper restrooms when a man reached under the partition and slashed at their legs.

Mrs. Clinger was slashed on the fourth floor of the Mutual Benefit Life building. The attack on Mrs. Smith came 35 minutes later on the 12th floor of the Shell building about four blocks away.

The attacker was described as a black man in his middle or late 20s. He was wearing a black Navy watchcap and long-sleeved black sweater.

World's Tallest Hotel Scheduled For Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—Architect-developer John Portman announced today he will build the world's tallest hotel—a 70-story, 1,200-room tower—on Atlanta's Peachtree Street.

The hotel, costing more than $50 million, will be taller than any building in Dallas, Houston or Miami and will become the eighth building in Peachtree Center, a $200 million complex.

Portman said construction will begin immediately.

Rising 700 feet, the hotel will also be taller than Moscow's Ukraine Hotel (650 feet), presently the world's tallest hotel, and New York's Waldorf-Astoria(625 feet).

The hotel will be built and owned by Portman Properties and managed by Western International Hotels, a subsidiary of UAL, Inc., which also owns United Air Lines.

The building site was recently occupied by the Henry Grady hotel and two office buildings. It was once the location of the governor's mansion. The land is owned by the state of Georgia and is under a 99-year lease to Portman interests.

Editor Contempt Ruling Reversed

TEXARKANA, Tex. (UPI)— The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday overturned the contempt of court conviction of Texarkana Gazette editor Harry Wood, who published a trial verdict against a judge's order.

"I thought it was an excellent ruling," Wood said. "It upheld the people's right to know and confirmed that public information is protected by the First Amendment."

Wood was fined $250 and sentenced to 60 days in jail by Miller County Circuit Judge John W. Goodson for publishing the verdict of a rape trial. Goodson ordered Wood not to print the verdict because he said it might influence the jury in a related case.

Reagan Works On Tax Cut, School Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan intends to send the legislature a new tax cut-school finance package next month and is prepared to take it to the voters in an initiative if the lawmakers turn him down.

Knowledgeable administration sources said the governor's proposal calls for a cut in state income taxes along with school finance and property tax relief program.

They said if the legislature rejects the latest proposal, as it has done with every major Reagan-sponsored school finance and tax shift package, the governor plans to take it directly to the voters and have it enacted through the initiative process.

Administration officials voiced the belief that such an unusual course of action by a governor would be unprecedented in California history.

The governor's office declined to comment.

The proposal is expected to be announced publicly soon and sent to the legislature after the lawmakers return Nov. 8 from a three-month vacation.

Administration policy makers have been quietly shaping the proposed legislation since Aug. 3 when the Senate rejected an Assembly-passed $1.2 billion school-finance property relief compromise sponsored by Reagan and Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys.

The income tax cut, first alluded to by Reagan when the Senate dumped the compromise, would be "hefty," and probably not just a "one-time reduction, officials said.

In 1969, California income taxpayers received an across-the-board 10 per cent cut when there was a budget surplus of $308 million. The state Department of Finance now is projecting a surplus estimated at between $400 million and $420 million.

The sources said a key feature of the governor's latest plan is tied to federal revenue sharing. Officials have estimated California state government's slice at roughly $200 million in the first year.

They indicated this revenue would be earmarked for school aid, for financing a rollback in school district property tax rates or for some combination of both.

Democratic leaders in both the Assembly and Senate already have declared themselves in favor of spending the entire budget surplus for schools to help come to grips with the state Supreme Court's historic education finance ruling last year.

The court found the current method of financing local education to be unconstitutional because the property tax-based system unfairly discriminates against children in low wealth districts.

Reagan is preparing to submit his proposal to the legislature in a form which would require the voters to ratify it before the program could take effect, the sources said. If the lawmakers turned it down, they said the governor intends to lead a campaign to put it on the ballot in the form of an initiative.

Noting the governor's prior failures in winning acceptance of the lawmakers of his tax and school finance packages, these sources said Reagan sees the initiative route as virtually the only option open to him if the legislature scuttles his latest plan.

ILLEGAL ARM USE

Suspected drug dealer Walter Lee Sanders, shown with his artificial arm, is being held by St. Louis police on drug charges. Police arrested him yesterday after finding what was believed to be heroin, hidden in his artificial left arm. Police said the arm contained 26 packets of the suspected drug. (UPI Telephoto)

Daughter Of Nikita Rests In Lofty Spot

MOSCOW (UPI)—She died as she lived, unknown to her nation's people. Yet her grave is more prestigiously placed than that of her famous father.

Elena Nikitichna Khrushcheva, youngest daughter of former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, died July 14. She was 35.

Her death, cause unknown, was never announced in Soviet newspapers. Friends of the family did not mention it to western residents. Only a chance stroll in Moscow's Novodevichy (New Maiden) cemetery by this correspondent Monday disclosed she had died.

Elena was the youngest of Khrushchev's four daughters. She studied law and journalism and apparently never married.

Her grave is a few yards away from the grave of Stalin's wife, Nadezhda Alliluyeva, in the older, prestigious part of the cemetery, Moscow's most famous pantheon after Red Square.

Elena's father, one of the world's two most powerful men for more than a decade, is buried in the adjoining new section where those who have not made history rest.

A crude, flat stone temporarily on Elena's grave says:

"Elena Nikitichna Khrushcheva 1937-1972"

Had Elena or her sisters or brother—even her mother, Nina Petrovna—walked across Red Square, hardly anyone would have recognized her.

The exception might have been a foreign newsman or diplomat who had seen Elena somewhere in Europe when she accompanied her father.

The families and the private lives of Soviet leaders are virtually unknown to the Soviet public.

After Khrushchev's death in September, 1971, it was learned that a distinguished American doctor, Prof. A. Mcghee Harvey of Johns Hopkins University, secretly came to Moscow to treat Elena for a disease which could have been cancer.

Bald Eagle Is Back At Zoo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A female bald eagle named Charlie is back in the San Francisco Zoo today after two days of freedom that could have killed her.

The 11-pound bird, an endangered species, flew the coop Saturday — possibly frightened by a storm. Zoo officials said she didn't have much chance of surviving on her own because she'd been raised in captivity.

Charlie was found sitting on a fence in the rain about a quarter mile from the zoo Monday. Zookeepers offered her some chicken necks and, while she was eating, picked her up.

The bird was named Charlie when found as a youngster because somebody made a mistake about her gender.

$495,000 In Jewels Missing

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Police reported today the apparent theft of $495,000 worth of diamonds during their shipment from Tel Aviv to Hong Kong.

Police said the shipment was mistakenly put aboard an Air France flight to Hong Kong last month instead of aboard a BOAC plane with special security against theft.

It is now reported missing.

Addition To Vallejo Park Is Approved

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Public Works Board has approved purchase of a 12-acre addition to the state park at the old Gen. Mariano Vallejo home at Sonoma.

The land, which had been the site of a planned townhouse development, will serve as a buffer between the park and future commercial or recreational construction in the region.

Cost of the purchase was $175,000.

Earlier this year, the Sonoma City Council, over protests by State Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott Jr. and others, approved a permit to build the townhouses. But the council reversed its position after the June election.

The newly purchased land is the first of three parcels the board has authorized for park addition.

Vallejo was commander of Mexican forces in California in the 19th Century.

Quentin Six Makes A New Court Pitch

Six San Quentin inmates — whose murder trial has been delayed while the State Supreme Court decides if they have the right to choose their own attorneys at public expense — have aised the same issue in a civil case which also stems from a San Quentin escape try last year.

In a motion filed in Marin Superior Court the six inmates ask that Charles R. Garry, prominent in radical causes, be appointed to represent them in three damage suits filed by the families of guards killed in the escape attempt in August 1971.

In addition, they seek $50,000 "for investigations, depositions and other costs," because "we are without funds and we have no way of being able to defend ourselves," the six said in legal documents drafted by Garry.

In reply, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney argued that courts have not recognized a right to counsel in civil cases.

The six — Fleeta Drumgo, Hugo Pinell, John Larry Spain, Louis Talamantez, David Johnson and Willie Tate — plus missing East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham and Vanitia Anderson are being sued for $23 million per family by the families of guards Paul W. Krasenes, Jere P. Graham and Frank De Leon.

Also being sued are the State Department of Corrections, Marin, Monterey and San Francisco counties and San Quentin Warden Louis M. Nelson or failing to protect the guards.

The suit and the murder charges stem from an alleged escape attempt by inmate George Jackson on Aug. 21, 1971, that resulted in the deaths of Jackson, two other convicts and the guards. Bingham is being sought for allegedly smuggling a gun to Jackson.

Whether the six charged after the killings have a right to choose their own attorneys at public expense was appealed to the State Supreme Court by the State Attorney General after the state court of appeal in San Francisco ruled Drumgo should be represented by attorney Richard Hodge.

The issue was first raised by San Rafael attorney Richard Breiner, who was named counsel for Drumgo over both the inmate's and his own objections. He appealed to the Court of Appeal to be released from the case.

Spelling Not Their Bag In Kentfield

Kentfield School District children did better at reading and expressive language then they did in spelling and math in last year's achievement tests, district trustees were told last night.

District psychologist Jack D. Williams said that Kentfield students consistently scored higher than the statewide average in all tests, but their rating wasn't so high "in the drearier subjects."

Trustees asked for an explanation of the differences, said Williams, and were told that once a child acquires the basic skills in reading he moves ahead at his own rate, while math depends on instruction.

Trustees discussed the problem, said Williams, and concluded it would require a lot more individualised instruction than the district could afford to allow math students to progress at individual rates.

The Kentfield School District board also:

TEACHER — Hired Jeanine White as tevporary teacher of language arts and science at Adaline E. Kent School effective Oct. 2, at a prorated salary of $6,915 for this school year.

BALLOT — Unanimously cast its ballot for Sally Rakow as representative to the California School Boards Association.

SUPPORT — Decided to support the establishment of a permanent legislative committee of the Marin County School Boards Association.

SURPLUS — Declared the district's 1963 Ford car surplus and authorized interim Supt. Byron G. Mauzy to dispose of it.

COPIER — Approved selling the district's Gestafax copier to the Ross School District for $800; Kentfield has changed to a different copying system.

WORKSHOP — Arranged two board policy workshops; on Oct. 17 at 8 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School to work on personnel and general administration; on Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. at Wolfe Grade School to discuss the junior high program.

I.Q. — Heard a letter calling attention to AB 665 which eliminated I.Q. testing from the statewide program but declared the district would continue testing.

Two Given Suspended Prison Terms

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two San Franciscans charged in connection with property stolen in Marin have received suspended state prison sentences and a third person is still awaiting sentencing.

All had earlier pleaded guilty to various charges in San Francisco Superior Court.

Gary Webb, 26, who had pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property and a drug charge, was placed on probation for three years and sent to county jail for seven months in addition to the suspended prison sentence.

Norma Schlemme, 24, received no jail time but was placed on probation for three years. She had pleaded guilty only to possessing drugs.

Still awaiting sentencing is Gary Schlemme, also 24.

All three were arrested in a raid on the Schlemme home April 18 in which large quantities of drugs and stolen property were seized.

Included in the confiscated property were a $30,000 painting taking last March from a Kentfield residence and an 18th Century clock stolen in Sausalito.

Marinite Sells Disabled Yacht

SANTA CRUZ (UPI)—Dr. Jeremiah John Wolohan sold his 127-foot yacht Monday after it was swept ashore near here by a sudden weekend squall.

After the Coast Guard abandoned efforts to pull the Shamrock IV from the beach, Dr. Wolohan, who lives in Kentfield, sold the yacht to Rocco Cardinale of Moss Landing.

No purchase price was disclosed.

Cardinale, with the help of experienced ship salvage workers, immediately began an effort to recover the yacht.

Sudden winds tore the Shamrock's anchor loose Saturday, and drove the vessel ashore. Dr. Wolohan, his family, and 24 guests were abord the schooner at the time, and none was injured.

Imposter Enters, Paycheck Exits

A dark-haired man six feet, three inches tall walked through Ross Hospital Friday afternoon posing as a doctor, Ross police reported today.

Crash Victim In Satisfactory Condition

John Gentry, 47, of 57 Millside Lane, Mill Valley, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries suffered in an accident at 9:10 p.m. Friday on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Open House Is Set At School

An open house in which parents may visit classes anytime during the school day, will be held between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday at Novato High School, said Principal Stanley Onderdonk.

Called "An Experience In Education," the open house at the school has no schedule, he said. Visitors may come to the campus, drop in on any class and stay as long as they wish, he said.

He requested that all visitors enter the school through the main office building so that the administration staff may introduce themselves and assist guests to see what they want to on the campus.

Officers of the Parent-Faculty Club will also be there to meet parents and solicit memberships.

COURT

Agreed to decide if the Defense Department can deny full housing and medical benefits to a woman member of the armed forces who partically supports her husband althoug it pays full benefits to men with dependents.

The Court will hear the case later this term and follow with a written opinion.

The case was brought to the high court o appeal from a U.S. District Court in Alabama by Lt. Sharron Frontiero, who hoined the Air Force for four years on Oct. 1, 1968.

Let stand a series of appeals from lower court rulings involving state legislature reapportionment plans from Washington, North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

There was no comment by the Court in acting on the Ohio private school subsidy case except for the notation that Justice Byron R. White favored hearing arguments on the issue.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), which started the Ohio lawsuit, said the only question is "whether a different result is obtained by shunting the subsidy through the parents instead of shunting it through the teachers."

The legislature appropriated $30.5 million for the nonpublic school program for the 1971-72 year, to be spent either on materials and services or parental grants.

After the panel struck down the law, Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown asked the Supreme Court to allow reimbursements for expenses incurred before the date of the panel's decision —April 17. But the Court refused, without comment.

Ohio's public school population numbers about 2.4 million and private school, 334,420. Of those attending nonpublic schools, 95 per cent go to Roman Catholic schools.

The lower court said to uphold the statute "would be to introduce the religious issues to the very center of state politics."

Public assistance to private school children for services such as teaching materials, assistance to the blind and the like was left intact.

Another section of the law provided for a new state-wide income tax to finance education in Ohio.

Just eight days ago, another federal panel struck down a New York state law providing for tuition grants to parents of private school students.

Use Permit For Stan's Is Approved

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved a use permit for an office and warehouse facility for Stan's For Sports in the Novato Auto Mart area, but continued consideration of the precise development plans.

Stanley Goldsmith had the double application for his warehouse and office west of Highway 101, south of Novato Creek. The commission continued the consideration of the plans on advice of the city attorney to determine if Goldsmith should submit an environmental impact study.

Hawaii Dock Strike Near Settlement

HONOLULU (UPI) —Settlement of the first Hawaii dock strike in 23 years appeared imminent today as negotiations lasted until nearly midnight Monday and resumed just a few hours later.

Dock workers ratified a contract with one shipping line Monday and Robert McElrath, regional director of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, announced "agreement in principle" with Matson Navigation Co., another of the four companies struck.

Boxer Coffees

Coffees for Barbara Boxer, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the second district, will be held at 10:15 a.m. tomorrow at the Greenbrae home of Mary Bingham, 29 Bretano Way, and at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Ross home of Andre Paris, 28 Loma Linda Avenue.

Prop. 14 Opposed By Board

The Mill Valley School District board last night unanimously passed a resolution opposing Proposition 14, the Watson initiative, claiming the district would face a 20 per cent cut in its educational program if the measure passes in November.

The initiative, which places a ceiling on local property taxes would result in a loss of money and control for the school district, the board declared.

According to Supt. James A. Collins, the state would only replace locally raised taxes to a uniform level across the state and that ceiling would result in a loss of $240 per child per year in the Mill Valley School District, said Collins. Such a drop in funds would be about $80 greater than the statewide average, he declared.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

READING — Deleted a section of the state's basic reading course, which establishes guidelines for teaching reading to culturally disadvantaged students, because it felt the situation does not apply to the Mill Valley school district.

MIDDLE SCHOOL — Heard a list of construction needs, not originally envisioned in the plans, including a covered outdoor stairway between the school's four wings; the conversion of a storeroom into another darkroom; the installation of outdoor benches and drinking fountains. The board postponed action on the expenditures until it could review an architect's estimate of the total cost.

COLLINS — Accepted Collins's request to return to teaching next school year. Collins will serve as a consultant to the new superintendent and the school district in July, 1973 and will be paid his regular superintendent's salary.

FACILITY USE — Scheduled a meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 16 at the Old Mill School to discuss the possibility of reshuffling students next year to avoid overcrowding at Old Mill, Marin Terrace, Park and Alto-Maguire schools.

3 Guilty In Flag Incident

Climbing flag poles is a great lark and a way to win $20 at one Virginia High School, but it is a good way to land in jail in San Rafael, especially when the staff flies Marin's most sought after landmark.

Andrew Dickenson Bridgforth, 21, Richard Allen Greene and Charles Ernest Rawley III, both 22, learned that local taboo yesterday.

Judge David R. Baty of Marin Municipal Court found them guilty of trespassing and sentenced them to time already spent in jail after listening to Bridgforth explain why he was climbing toward the Giant American flag at Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury when San Rafael police arrived Sunday.

He said the three went to Sausalito looking for a good time Saturday, but didn't find it despite a couple of drinks. They moved on to San Rafael and began reminiscing about high school days when Bridgforth won a $20 bet by climbing a flag pole in their home town of Danville, Va.

Bridgforth said the bet was on again when they saw the 24-by-40-foot flag waving above Francisco Boulevard at 2 a.m., but he aid he had pulled himself only 10 feet up when police arrested them on suspicion of attempted grand theft and conspiracy to take the $400 flag.

Only then did they learn that the flag had been stolen twice since it was first raised three weeks ago. "I didn't want the flag," Bridgforth said.

Marin Agency Will Not Meet Tomorrow

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission has cancelled its regular monthly meeting tomorrow due to a lack of agenda items and the ill health of one staff member.

The commission will meet again Nov. 8 when it is expected to discuss a "Spheres of Influence" study on future expansion of Marin's 11 cities.

BUGGING

eration was commonly called the 'offensive security' program of the Nixon forces, according to investigators.

"Perhaps the most significant finding of the whole Watergate investigation, the investigators say, was that numerous specific acts of political sabotage and spying were all traced to this 'offensive security,' which was conceived and directed in the White House and by President Nixon's re-election committee."

The Post said the Watergate investigation "definitely established that virtually all the acts against the Democrats were financed by a secret, fluctuating $350,000-$700,000 campaign fund that was controlled by former Attorney General John N. Mitchel (and) kept in a safe in the office of the President's chief fundraiser, former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans.

A key figure in the political espionage, according to the Post report, was Donald H. Segretti, a former Treasury Department lawyer who lives in Marina Del Rey, Calif.

The Post said a reporter interviewed Segretti last week and he denied knowledge of any political espionage. But the Post quoted Shipley, Nixt, Griffiths and Dixon as saying Segretti approached them.

Shipley said Segretti talked in general terms when he first raised the subject while driving to Dulles Airport in June, 1971.

"It was very strange," Shipley told the Post, "Three quarters of the way to the airport I said, 'Well, who will we be working for?' He said, 'Nixon' and I was really taken aback; because all the actions he had talked about would have taken place in the Democratic primaries. He said the main purpose was that the Democrats have an ability to get back together after a knockdown, drag-out campaign. What we want to do is wreak enough havoc so they can't."

Absentees To Be Replaced

The Marin City Council will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Manzanita Center to fill three vacancies on the council created by members who have missed three consecutive meetings.

Chairman Frank Phillips Sr. said council bylaws state that those missing three meetings in a row shall be replaced by appointment of others to take their places.

Members who have not attended and are to be replaced include: James Bullock, Royce McLemore and Lee Vella Bland, Phillips said.

He said the council also will fill the seat of the late C. J. Williams.

He urged persons interested in becoming council members to attend the meeting.

Arm Hurt As Auto Veers

A Corte Madera woman was treated today for an injured forearm after an automobile accident on Highway 101, south of Lucky Drive.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Rosanne Valentine, of 246 Balclutha Drive, was northbound on Highway 101 at 2:05 a.m. when she suddenly veered to the right and crashed into a parked car, owned by David Williams, of Richmond.

She was unable to explain why she ran off the road, the patrol reported.

Cashier Short In Change Confusion

Two quick change artists made off with $20 from Kentucky Fried Chicken in San Rafael yesterday, and left their victim so confused she couldn't even offer a description of them.

The men took turns confusing cashier Shannon Kelly as she accepted their payment for their meal and made change for them, with the result that at the end of the day she found her accounts short $20.

OBITUARIES

Maude Glass, 86, Dies

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael, for Maude Glass, 86, of Santa Venetia, who died at home Sunday.

Mrs. Glass, widow of George Glass, succumbed of an apparent heart attack at 305 Vendola Drive, according to Donald L. Cornish, county coroner's deputy. She was found dead in bed by a granddaughter, Betty Self, who thought Mrs. Glass was sleeping late.

Born in Kansas, Mrs. Glass lived in San Rafael more than 21 years, as well as in Richmond and Idaho.

Survivors are a siter, Hazel Martin, and a brother, Emery Brogan, both of Emmett, Idaho; another brother, Fred Brogan, of New Plymouth, Idaho; three grandchildren' seven great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Memorial service for Genevieve J. Creeley, mother of Robert Creeley of Bolinas, will be held Sunday at 11 a.m. at Calvary Presbyterian Church in Berkeley. Inurnment will be in Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.

Mrs. Creeley, 85, died Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness.

A native of Head of the Tide, Maine, she had spent most of her life in New England, but lived recently with her son and his family at 104 Terrace Avenue. Bolinas.

She also is survived by a daughter, Helen Power of Laramie, Wy.

JACK G. CATON

Rosary for Jack G. Caton, a resident of San Rafael from 1945 to 1953, will be recited tonight at 8 o'clock in the Lisle Calaverase Chapel in Fresno.

A Requiem Mass will be celebrated tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in Our Lady of Victory Church, Fresno. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery in Fresno.

Caton, whose widow Theresa is a native of San Rafael, died Sunday in a Fresno hospital. He was 64.

Caton was in the insurance business for 47 years, reaching a position as a resident manager and personnel administrator for Travelers' Insurance Co. in Fresno. Prior to moving to that city in 1953 he worked for the firm's San Francisco office and lived in San Rafael eight years.

He also is survived by two sons, Curtis M. Caton of San Rafael and Dr. Jack G. Caton Jr. of Rochester, N.Y.; his mother, Anne E. Caton of Fresno, and four grandchildren.

JULIE AUSTINSON

Private graveside service for Julie Ann Austinson of Mill Valley will be held tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Miss Austinson, 8, died Sunday while on a camping trip to Yosemite, after a long illness.

A native of San Rafael, she resided at 910 West California Avenue. She was a third grader at Marin Terrace School.

Miss Austinson is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Austinson; a brother, Neal Austinson Jr., and a sister, Holly Austinson, all of Mill Valley.

FRIEDA BUNZEL

Born in Berlin, Germany, Miss Bunzel came to this country 26 years ago. She had lived all that time in Marin. She made her home with her brother, Harry, who survives her, at 25 Bridge Road.

Private family service was held today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment was at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

VELMA MATHIS

Velma Currey Mathis, 65, a Petaluma bookkeeper, was found dead yesterday at her home at 37 El Rose Drive.

The Sonoma County Coroner's Office said death was due to natural causes. Police were sent to her home when she failed to appear for work at Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth Co., Petaluma.

Mrs. Mathis had moved to Petaluma from Santa Cruz seven years ago. She was the wife of the late Joseph L. Mathis.

A shipment of genuine handwoven Oriental rugs has been shipped for the U.S. Market through bonded warehouse in London. As a result of the recent dock strike in London, the goods did not arrive on time, and those financially responsible for the unpaid shipment have instructed their U.S. agents to dispose of entire shipment at auction.
This shipment, in our opinion, is the finest collection in design, craftsmanship, and color of handmade carpets, rugs, and runners we have ever seen in all our years of selling the finest quality Oriental rugs and carpets.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 10, the 284th day of 1972 with 82 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this date ar under the sign of Libra. American actress Helen Hayes was born Oct. 10, 1900.

On this day in history:

In 1911, Chinese revolutionaries overthrew the Manchu Dynasty.

In 1963, an estimated 3,000 persons were drowned when a dam burst in Northern Italy.

In 1970, Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte was kidnapped by Canadian separatist terrorists. His body was found later in the trunk of a car.

Two Girls Report Indecent Exposure

Two girls, 7 and 9 years old, were victims of indecent exposure about 10 a.m., Saturday on the Marion School playground, Novato police reported.

The man was described as 20 to 30 years old, six feet tall and was wearing white pants and striped coat, according to police.

Amtrak Will Fight Any Proposed Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Amtrak has decided to fight any major cuts in passenger train service next summer, in anticipation that a surprise boom in train travel will continue.

Amtrak is faced with a crisis date, July 1, 1973, when by law it is no longer forced to operate all the routes in its basic system. It was assumed up to now that the corporation, pushed by the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB), would petition to cut a number of routes.

But increasing ridership—up 13.7 per cent in May and June over a year ago and expected to be double or triple that in July-August — has convinced even the most skeptical Amtrak officials that a revival of the passenger train is possible. So maneuvering has begun with the Transportation Department to convince the OMB not to force major cuts.

According to sources in Amtrak and the Transportation Department, Amtrak has proposed a three-part plan to maintain all the trains it can. The plan involves 1) only minor cutbacks this summer, 2) what amounts to probation for its biggest money-losers, allowing them to operate at least into October, 1973, in hopes that ridership increases will save them, and 3) "locking in" the great majority of the system to prevent cutbacks for the foreseeable future.

Amtrak has proposed only one major change this summer —rerouting the Chicago-Florida train, which now goes through Louisville, Ky., and Birmingham, Ala. Instead, Chicago-Florida cars would go via Richmond, Va., on other trains.

Amtrak officials do not think even this change will be politically possible. "You just couldn't get away with cutting service to three state capitals," said a high Amtrak official, referring to Indianapolis, Nashville and Montgomery.

The only other changes would be to abandon the Newport News, Va.-Richmond section of the Newport News-Chicago train in favor of a bus, and to shorten the run of the Washington-Parkersburg, W. Va., train by cutting it back to some other terminal, perhaps Grafton, W. Va.

All of the Amtrak "corridor" routes would be "locked in" and would continue operation indefinitely. The corridor routes are generally defined as Washington-New York Boston, New York-Buffalo, Chicago-Detroit, Chicago-St. Louis, Chicago-Milwaukee, Chicago-Carbondale, Ill., Los Angeles-San Diego and Seattle-Portland.

A number of long distance lines also would be locked in, including New York-Chicago, New York-Florida, Chicago-Virginia, Chicago-Los Angeles, Chicago-Denver, and Chicago-Seattle (via northern Montana).

Amtrak would place some routes on probation by petitioning to take them out of the basic system and classifying them as experimental, thus allowing Amtrak to abandon them at will rather than petitioning the Interstate Commerce Commission as they must do for routes classified as part of the basic system.

Among these probationary routes, safe at least into October, would be such moneylosers as New York-Kansas City and Chicago-Houston.

DINNER WITH SPIRO

Several Hollywood figures were on hand last night for a $100-a-plate dinner in Anaheim featuring Vice President Spiro Agnew. Applauding Gov. Ronald Reagan's arrival were (from left) Frank Sinatra, Rosalind Russell, Milton Berle, John Wayne, Jack Benny and Eva Gabor. Agnew criticized Democratic presidential hopeful George McGovern for trying to "obfuscate the issues in emotional rhetoric and reckless and groundless insinuations of corruption and scandal in high places." 'Little Man' Pitch Made By Shriver

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Sargent Shriver attacked President Nixon's domestic record Monday night in an attempt to rouse enthusiasm and get the local Democratic machinery going for the final month of the presidential campaign.

Speaking to about 2,000 party regulars, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate emphasized the theme of a party based on the "little man" in this strong labor city, which Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace carried by a wide margin in the spring primary.

"Nixon and John Connally say we should get accustomed to a 5.5 per cent unemployment rate," Shriver said. "We Democrats say that is never acceptable

"If Johnny Connally and Nixon find the 5.5 per cent unemployment rate acceptable, we should put them in the unemployment lines."

Under the Nixon administration, he said, the unemployment rolls have risen to five million men and women, including 310,000 Vietnam veterans.

"Our country was never set up to have unemployment lines made up of returning veterans of war," Shriver said, adding that under a McGovern-Shriver administration "everyone who wants to work would get a job."

He charged that the President is not concerned about the "wage earner" but only interested in the directors of the Penn Central, IT&T and other major corporations.

Nixon Aims For Landslide, Not Control Of Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although he generally supports Republican candidates for Congress, President Nixon is more concerned with rolling up an impressive margin of victory over Sen. George S. McGovern than he is in helping the GOP capture control of the Senate and House.

The President will concentrate his personal campaigning on states he considers battlegrounds in the presidential contest, even if that means skipping over states with close senatorial races where a visit from the President could be decisive.

White House Communications Director Herbert G. Klein, outlined Nixon's strategy for the final month of the election campaign to a small group of newsmen Monday. The pattern of the President's effort emerged from that interview and from earlier comments by administration officials.

Klein said Nixon will increase the pace of his campaign after Congress adjourns for the year, perhaps this weekend. But he said the President will not mount a full campaign until the final week before the Nov. 7 election, if then.

Nixon is scheduled to make a one-day trip to Atlanta Thursday, his only scheduled campaign trip in two weeks.

Klein said Nixon would be on the road "substantially less" than in 1970 when although he was not a candidate he traveled the nation on behalf of Republican aspirants for Congress. In 1970 Nixon campaigned mostly on weekends before finishing with a coast-to-coast blitz in the final 10 days before the election.

Nixon's objective for Nov. 7 is to win an overwhelming victory that would shock Congress into aproving his legislative programs and perhaps convince some conservative congressional Democrats to switch to the Republican party.

The Nixon strategy does not include a crash effort to capture control of the Senate or House by defeating Democratic incumbents. The "new American majority" has a place for ticket-splitting Democrats.

"It is true that we are trying to broaden the base of our support, Klein said. "We want to make it as easy as possible for people who are not Republicans to vote for the President.

Klein said the White House would consider the election a Nixon landslide if the President defeats his Democratic opponent by an overwhelming margin even if the Republicans do not capture either house of the Congress.

"I am sure at some point he'll urge the election of a Republican House and Senate," Klein said. "He won't do that in every speech."

The strategy is a sharp break with Nixon's previous style: As Vice President, as President and while out of office in between, Nixon steadfastly campaigned for the GOP ticket.

In selecting sites for his personal campaigning, Klein said Nixon would give primary consideration to the presidential race.

He said Nixon would work hard to capture Massachusetts, California and a few other states which opinion polls indicate could be close. There is no senatorial contest in California this year and in Massachusetts Republican Sen. Edward Brooke is an overwhelming favorite to win.

Code Supports Angela's Talk

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Board of Regents, seeking a way to prevent Angela Davis from speaking at the University of Arizona, finds its hands tied by the same Campus Code of Conduct it thrust on students three years ago.

Dr. Paul Singer, a Phoenix physician and regent president, acknowledged yesterday that the code so bitterly opposed by students and many faculty members at the three universitites now prevents the board from interfering with Miss Davis's scheduled appearance next month.

The code, a regent product, states that the only grounds for prohibiting the appearance of a speaker is the threat of imminent violence.

First Lady Joins Daley In Parade

CHICAGO (UPI)—Pat Nixon walked Monday down State Street, arm-in-arm with Mayor Richard J. Daley, at the head of a Columbus Day parade honoring "America, a nation of immigrants."

She stayed too long, though, and arrived late at what was to be a tea and reception for 2,500 Republican women. There were 11,600 ladies in McCormick Place, not all of them happy about waiting to see the First Lady.

"I'm decimated that I'm not going to have a chance to say hello to all of you because nobody dreamed we would have this many," she said.

Before the tea, Mrs. Nixon, campaigning here for her husband's re-election, joined the Democratic Daley at the head of a crowd of Democratic and Republican politicians in a walk down State Street. Police estimated the crowd there at 125,000.

"Our most beautiful Mayor Daley" was introduced and the mayor greeted the First Lady, praised the music of the bands and the efforts of the Columbus Day Committee, advising it: "Keep it up and someday Columbus Day will equal St. Patrick's Day."

Abel Blames Business Tax Cut For Big Budget Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President I.W. Abel of the United Steelworkers said today a "business tax cut binge" in 1971 has contributed sustantially to the federal government's budget deficits.

Abel said in remarks prepared for the annual taxation conference of the National Tax Association that there is an increasing inequity in the federal tax structure that has seen the corporate share of federal income tax collections drop from 35 per cent in 1960 to 25 per cent last year.

"The failure to close tax loopholes since 1969, plus the unjustified giveaways enacted last year further undermine the thin margin of equity that remains in the nation's tax structure," Abel said. "It has severely hampered the federal government's revenue-raising ability. It has led to a degree of taxpayer distrust and dissatisfaction that has ominous implications for the well-being of this nation."

Abel said that "last year's business tax cut binge will cost our government more than $80 billion in lost revenue over the next 10 years."

The business tax cuts were enacted by Congress at the request of President Nixon, who said they would help spur the economy.

Abel said there is a triple standard of taxation:

One standard applying to ordinary income such as workers' earnings, which are taxed in full.

And a third applying to "income from interest on state and local bonds, fast depreciation write-offs, oil depletion and bookkeeping farm losses which completely escape the tax collector."

Fire Damage Report Delay Upsets Board

Disappointed Lagunitas School District trustees were told last night that an insurance adjustor's report on fire damage to Lagunitas School still isn't ready.

District secretary Anna Mae Kondratieff said the Sept. 14 fire which severely damaged the school's multimedia center and destroyed audiovisual equipment "has made things very difficult."

The school library has had to be moved into another room, and audio visual material is only available at San Geronimo School.

Trustees were told the Insurance Company of North America is waiting for estimates from contractors on repairing or replacing the structure, and the contractors in turn are waiting for sub-contractors' estimates.

Mrs. Kondratieff said the board decided that if the insurance report was ready before the next regular meeting on Oct. 30 they would call a special meeting. Trustees have to decide whether to repair the multimedia center — housed in a portable — or replace it entirely.

The Lagunitas School District Board Also:

ELECTIVES — Approved a request from sixth grade teacher Fred Brown to change his class schedule, permitting sixth graders to go in with seventh and eighth grades for electives, thus broadening the scope of the elective program for all three grades.

INTERNS — Was introduced to Janet Carlson, supervisor of the 10 intern teachers from the University of Massachusetts who will work in district schools this year.

BUS — Instructed Supt.-Principal Harry F. Roche to get some informal estimates on the cost of overhauling the district's old third bus so that it can be retained for field trips and as a backup to the two newer buses.

WATSON — Voted to oppose the Watson Amendment on the November ballot.

MEETING — Adjourned to Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at San Geronimo Valley School, a week later than the normal date.

Instructions On Property Idea Taken

The Rohnert Park Recreation Commission followed city council instructions yesterday and looked at more property as potential park sites but stuck to its view that the John Rapoza Ranch is the city's best prospect.

Recreation Director James Pekkain said the commission decided the ranch, west of Sonoma State College in the foothills of the Sonoma Mountains, would be the best location, because other properties were steeper and more hazardous and some lacked good access and trees. The council is considering purchase of 100 acres for a regional park.

The commission was told that rainy weather has slowed work at El Collegio Park. Pekkain said the irrigation system should be completed this week.

Transit Fund Action Postponed By Board

Action on an application for federal transit funds and on expansion of West Marin bus service was postponed to Nov. 7 today by Marin County Transit District directors.

The application for a three-year, $1,350,000 grant would finance operations by Marin local bus operation by Marin Transit Systems. The president of the company, Charles J. Lennihan, asked for the four-week delay to give his staff time to complete details required by the government.

A delegation of three West Marin women came to plead for a second time in a week for expanded bus service to their area, but learned the item was not even on the agenda though promised last Tuesday. James B. Robertson, assistant general manager of the transit district, said more time was needed to compute the cost and availability of equipment to expand the service.

Lunchroom Is Looted

A microwave oven valued at $500 and a $15 clock were taken between midnight and 7 a.m. Oct. 8 from the lunchroom at Kaiser Hospital in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Cattle Industry Led By Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas is at the top of the charts in all phases of the cattle industry, Agriculture Commissioner John White reports.

Iowa lost its first-place spot in cattle feeding to Texas this year, as the Lone Star state reported 2,045,000 head of feed, White said.

Texas is also No. 1 in total cattle and calves and in beef cows that have calved, White reports.

Hearing Set In Burglary Case

A 20-year-old San Rafael resident charged with burglarizing the apartment of a neighbor is to appear tomorrow in Marin Superior Court for arraignment.

Kevin Aubry Seltenrich was bound over last week to superior court on the charge of taking a $120 stereo from the home of Josef Rowland III of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, May 27.

The equipment was pawned that day at the San Rafael Loan Co., according to San Rafael police.

Turtle Coffees

Coffees for Gene E. Turtle, candidate for the Marin Community College District board of trustees, will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at the Tamalpais Valley home of Francoise Hayet, 386 Pine Hill Road; 8 p.m. next Monday at the San Rafael home of Richard Hippard, 100 Palm Avenue, and 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 19 at the Sausalito home of Perry Biestman, 19 Prospect Avenue.

Traffic Snarl On Freeway At Petaluma

Northbound traffic on Highway 101 at Petaluma was tied-up yesterday after two cars and a tractor trailer rig collided on the Petaluma River Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident, in which no one was injured, occurred at 9:45 a.m. when a crib and stroller atop a car driven by Emil Schnizler, 65, of Eureka, tumbled off the roof of the car.

Officers said a car driven by Rudy Anjer, 64, of 29 Jade Court, Novato, skidded on the wet pavement to avoid hitting the furniture and collided with the car which had slowed to retrieve the items. The truck driven by Glen R. Wright, 28, of Phoenix, Ariz., skidded past the cars and tore out 50 feet of concrete bridge railing before overturning on both lanes.

Traffic was blocked for several hours and freeway cars were routed through downtown Petaluma. Northbound traffic was slowed for most of the day as the wrecked truck was shifted to one lane.

Disability Retirement Pay Studied For Thomas

Marin Municipal Court Judge Gary W. Thomas, paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the 1970 Civic Center shoot-out, may be eligible for disability retirement pay while working as a judge.

The county's retirement board yesterday certified the disability and tossed the matter to the county counsel's office for an opinion whether Thomas can receive a disability allowance while still employed.

Thomas, 34, was assistant district attorney at the time of the shoot-out in which four per- Court Judge Harold J. Haley.

The shoot-out occurred during a break for freedom by several San Quentin inmates. Thomas, a hostage of the inmates, was wounded in an exchange of gun fire between police and the inmates.

After months of treatment for a spinal injury, he returned to his job in the district attorney's office and was appointed to the judgeship earlier this year. He earns $33,886 per year.

If the county counsel's office finds no law blocking the disability retirement pay, Thomas will receive an additional $12,500 per year — half his former salary as assistant district attorney.

The county retirement board yesterday awarded service-connected disability retirement pay to Deputy Sheriff Joseph Mooney who suffers from heart trouble. He will receive half his salary or $550 per month.

The board denied a request from Arthur Whitney, a night watchman, for a service-connected disability but granted him a nonservice-connected disability entitling him to one-third his monthly salary. Whitney said he has heart trouble.

Permit For Night Spot On Agenda

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will review the use permit of the Lion's Share night spot on Red Hill Avenue when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The permit for the facility was reissued six months ago with provisions it be reviewed at this time, according to Thelma Foster, planning secretary.

The commission will also consider a proposal to designate San Anselmo a town rather than a city.

Also on the agenda are proposals for a lot split on Forbes Avenue, an application to operate a movie theater on Pine Street and a request by Standard Oil Co. for a service station on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Insurance Group Hits Prop. 14

The Marin Association of Life Underwriters has denounced Proposition 14 as a "tax hoax" and urged its defeat on the November ballot.

The Propositon, the Watson Initiative, would limit property taxes and shift welfare and education costs from local government to the state.

Association president Ross E. Bracken said the measure by Los Angeles County Assessor Philip E. Watson will benefit "those who need tax relief the least — major land-owning corporations, land speculators and the wealthy."

He cited the estimate by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post that the measure, despite its hike of the sales tax from 5 to 7 per cent, would leave a $1.3 billion revenue deficit.

The Marin association's position was adopted at last month's membership meeting in a "nearly unanimous" vote by some 35 of its 100 members, reported legislative chairman James Dougan.

Unemployment Rate Climbs In Canada

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's unemployment rate rose to 7.1 per cent of the labor force in September, the highest monthly figure in more than 11 years.

Statistics Canada, official statistics keeper for the country, issued its final employment report today before the Oct. 30 election, and it showed a continuation of the significant worsening of the jobless trend first reflected in the August figures.

One Week To Mark Freedom Of Press

This is National Newspaper Week, observed annually in honor of the United States' free press.

Like a host of such special weeks, it has been proclaimed by Congress — the resolution in this case having been introduced by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-North Carolina, and Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio. We ignore most such proclamations; but naturally, we are not about to ignore this one.

IT IS FITTING that the resolution was introduced in the Senate by a Democrat and in the House by a Republican. Our bi-party (and sometimes multi-party) government would not be possible without a free press. There is no free press anywhere under a one-party government.

Statesmen of all stripes have recognized this since the Republic's earliest days. We in the newspaper business are most fond of Thomas Jefferson's sentiment, expressed in a letter to Col. Edward Carrington in 1787:

"The basis of our government being the opinion of the people, the very first object should be to keep that right; and were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

Jefferson, a founding father of the Democratic-Republican Party, was of course known as something of a wild-eyed liberal in his own day. But that staunch Federalist conservative, John Adams, himself gave this advice to the press:

"Be not intimidated, therefore, by any terrors, from publishing with the utmost freedom whatever can be warranted by the laws of your country; nor suffer yourselves to be wheedled out of your liberty by any pretenses of politeness, delicacy, or decency. These, as they are often used, are but three different names for hypocrisy, chicanery, and cowardice."

WITH SUCH bipartisan support, it might be supposed that keeping the press free was an easy matter in the then-new United States. But not so! Even Adams and Jefferson themselves, after attaining the presidency, winced and grumbled when they became the targets of journalistic barbs — proving again the truth of the adage that "it all depends whose ox is gored."

Under Adams, the Alien and Sedition Acts were used to try to censor the press — with little success. Jefferson allowed the acts to die as soon as he took office. But a little later he was complaining of "viciousness" in some of the newspapers (just like presidents, vice presidents and candidates of later times, from F.D.R. to Spiro Agnew to George McGovern). And he sponsored a newspaper of his own party as a sort of "official organ" to give the people the administration's version of the "facts."

FROM THEN until now, politicians, self-styled intellectuals and advocates of assorted causes from the far left to the extreme right have been sniping and nibbling at the freedom of the press. But without question, the press in the United States remains among the freest in the world.

And as long as we can keep it that way, democracy in this country will survive.

Study Shows Failure Of School Bond Issues

By EARL G. WATERS

A study of local school and tax bond elections, just released by the California Department of Education, may be of some guidance to voters in November.

It has been the premise of Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, that the two-thirds voter approval requirement for school bonds is standing in the way of the replacement of buildings deemed unsafe from earthquakes.

To overcome this he authored Proposition 9, which would lower the constitutional requirement to a simple majority. The reduced vote would apply only to bonds for school replacements of unsafe structures. It is not intended the money should be used for other construction.

It has been pointed out by Moscone and others that somewhere between 1,500 and 1,700 buildings face abandonment if they are not replaced by 1975. That is the deadline set by the Legislature for compliance with earthquake proof requirements.

THE DEPARTMENT'S study found that in the 1971-72 year 102 local school bond elections were held, with only 24 being approved. Of those defeated, 50 more would have been passed had the requirement been the simple majority advocated by Moscone in Proposition 9.

The amount of indebtedness which was voted was $50 million. Had all of the bonds been passed, local districts would have imposed a staggering $500 million on property owners. Without the two-thirds vote requirement more than $400 million would have been voted by a simple majority.

In a four-year period the voters rejected 419 bond proposals while passing 213. The outstanding local school bonded indebtedness stands at nearly $5 billion.

Contrary to popular notion, it did not seem to matter when the elections were held or what the voter turn out was. Special elections drawing light turnouts fared no better percentagewise than those with heavy voter participation. In fact, in both the elections drawing the lowest (below 25 per cent) and the highest (above 75 per cent) numbers of voters, all bonds were rejected.

The aversion of the voters to encumbering themselves with huge debts is seen by the fact that no bond proposal in excess of $10 million was approved. Only six of the 24 bond elections which won were for more than $2 million.

Voter approval of school bonds since 1968 has averaged 31.5 per cent, with a continuing decline in the past two years to a low of 23.5 per cent this year.

IN THEIR ARGUMENTS for passage of Proposition 9, Senator Moscone and State Supt. Wilson Riles pled that the people are playing Russian roulette with the lives of the school children. They contend "there is no other alternative" to either reducing the vote requirement or abandoning the schools by 1975.

Sen. Clark Bradley, R-San Jose, writing the argument against the measure, insists there are other options and protests the "sole reliance on property taxes" for school construction. He says the state has made available $250 million for school replacement, which has been estimated to take care of more than 60 per cent of the needs. He says further that because of the decline in enrollments many schools should not be replaced.

Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding, speaking on the problem of unsafe schools earlier this year, said the 1975 cutoff date was an arbitrary time limit imposed by the Legislature, which could be changed or postponed. He also said he believed that when the Legislature mandates a program such as this it should provide the funds to accomplish it and not impose the burden upon local property owners.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Why Not Tivoli Gardens At Hamilton Field?

Having outlived its usefulness, and probably due for honorable retirement shortly no matter who runs the United States, Hamilton Field's next national functioning can make it a world-asset or just another subdivision to clutter the highways.

Some two years ago it just missed, by one vote, being pulled by Washington from under the comfortable old colonels and their staffs and the employment of displaced personnel is a must on a grand scale.

Everyone who has been to Copenhagen has marveled at its Tivoli Gardens. San Francisco has no place for a comparable grand tableau but Marin will have, with all plumbing and power outlets in place, at Hamilton Field.

Creative genius for a Tivoli-Disneyland is unlimited in this part of the world. Money is unlimited in federal quarters if our representatives get their backs up in the interests of a new national asset.

Otherwise, what for the people and acres in the sun of Hamilton field, come the cutting of the military fat?

Bond Opponent Finds Tiburon Vote Light

The first Tiburon open space bond issue election is over. The proponents have won by virtue of a special election day, and an apathetic Tiburon citizenry.

Only 1,800 out of 3,400 plus registered voters turned out, and while I would suppose all of the proponents were active, only 500 voted against the issue. What happened to the remaining 1,600 voters in Tiburon? Aren't they sufficiently interested in an issue so important and so costly to our city?

Speaking for a group of concerned citizens who worked hard to present the true facts in the short period of time allowed (by the early voting date), we asked only that the registered voters participate. I personally can add my feelings of shame for my fellow Tiburonites who have shirked their duty. The small turn-out was exactly what the proponents counted on, in order to push the issue.

Volunteers Helped Qualify Proposition 18

Columnist Rus Walton made some serious errors in his Sept. 8 report on initiatives qualified for the Nov. 7 ballot. I refer in particular to references to Proposition 15, the state pay-control initiative.

Walton states the California State Employees' Association (CSEA) paid to get its Proposition 15 on the ballot and "by contrast, volunteer workers gathered more than 325,000 signatures ... to qualify Proposition 18."

The inference that Proposition 15 was placed on the ballot without volunteer help or support is totally false.

Walton failed to report that CSEA collected almost half a million signatures by using the volunteer efforts of its members. But the CSEA initiative, being a state constitutional amendment, required more than 520,000 valid signatures to qualify. By contrast, Proposition 18, which is not a constitutional amendment required only 325,000 signatures.

CSEA paid professional circulators approximately $200,000 to gather the remaining signatures necessary to put the measure on the ballot, not $325,562 as Walton stated.

Last Chance Lost For Courthouse Square

Watching the last act of the Courthouse Square drama played out before the San Rafael City Council was a bit like seeing a suspense play after someone has told you the ending. But if the plot was predictable, the cast was fascinating.

Attorney Albert Bianchi, with his curious blend of sarcasm, subtle ridicule and hail-fellow camaraderie, making the most outrageous statements sound somehow logical. (The McKeon office building would have little environmental impact, he said, because it is on a single, flat block — and no one challenged him. In fact, it's the most colossal structure ever contemplated in San Rafael; its environmental impact will be felt for miles and for generations.) The panicky merchants, grasping at that big, square box as the last hope to save them from a surrounding sea of shopping centers, Councilman Jensen, scoring his points with developers and downtown business interests, and confusing his detractors with beguiling asides. The unorganized little band of protestors, so sincere and so futile. Even a delightful lady who presented her own drawing of how the square might be developed — esthetically far superior to the professional architect's rendering.

It may well be true that the McKeon building was the only economically feasible development on the square. Perhaps it was not possible to consider a shop and restaurant complex that would draw people downtown in the evenings and weekends as well as during business hours. Whatever the reasons, we've lost forever the chance to add a spot of charm and grace, a little touch of elegance, to our downtown area. . .

Board Of Supervisors' Priorities Distorted

In 1970 the California Legislature passed the Environmental Quality Act. Last month the state Supreme Court decided that EQA requires cities and counties to perform an evaluation of potential environmental harm before approving subdivisions or issuing permits for most private projects.

County Counsel Douglas Maloney detailed the decision and its ramifications to the board at its Oct. 3 meeting. The Board members responded in approximately this sequence:

1. Expressed anger and indignation at the court's action.
2. Explored methods of avoiding the requirements of the law.
3. Expressed a desire to see the Legislature — perhaps called into special session — overrule the decision.
4. Evaluated and implimented procedures to keep grinding out building approvals with a minimum of delay.

Only Supervisor Wornum spoke in support of the law. He asserted that the Environmental Impact Report requirement of EQA was necessary to prevent some of the disastrous consequences of uncontrolled, thoughtless growth we are now recognizing. He advocated a healthy, constructive response by the board to the requirements of the law.

Not so the other four — as might be expected Supervisors Baar and Roumiguiere inveighed against "environmentalist hooligans" for the benefit of their real estate-speculator-developer constituencies.

But Chairman Arrigoni and Supervisor Baptiste — who consider themselves conservationists — had nothing good to say about the law. They also were primarily concerned with keeping the building permits flowing.

This typifies the ineffectiveness of the supervisors in coping with the crisis of ill-planned development which faces us . . .

Status Of Soviet Jews Injected Wretchedly Into Campaign

NEW YORK — Of all the sad aspects of what has thus far been a wretched campaign, the injection of the status of Jews seeking to emigrate from the Soviet Union must rate high. Inevitable though it may have been with both sides bidding for the Jewish vote, the lengths to which this has gone exceed anything in past elections.

Here in New York the other day, Sen. George McGovern told a Jewish group that he would vote against most-favored nation treatment for the Soviet Union if Moscow persisted in demanding an exit tax up to $35,000 for permission to emigrate. Most-favored nation treatment means merely that in any trade agreement the Soviet Union would get the same tariff preference rates as other most-favored nations.

A little later President Nixon, speaking to another Jewish group, made up chiefly of his own supporters, was reported as saying he would not demagogue the issue. This aroused the wrath of the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, made up of 34 national Jewish agencies and community groups in 22 cities. In a night-long session marked by fiery speeches, the conference agreed on a strongly worded letter — couched almost as a demand — to the President calling on him to compel the Soviet Union to revoke the emigration tax.

IN WASHINGTON the White House is reported resentful of this approach, with renewed determination, in the Nixon phrase, to refuse to demagogue the issue. One speaker at the conference, demanding a meeting with high-level officials, declared, according to news reports, that they would not be forced off with "the White House Jew," a reference to Leonard Garment with whom leaders had met. This reference caused particular resentment.

Such a blunt attack could in the not-too-distant future have directly the opposite of the desired effect. President Nixon at this writing seems sure to be re-elected by an overwhelming majority. In a second term with no possibility of running again, he could well take a tougher stand in trying to compromise the Arab-Israeli conflict.

When Henry Kissinger, the President's adviser on security affairs, returned from his latest mission to Moscow, he was questioned about whether he had brought up the issue of the Jews in his sessions with Leonid Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders. He replied that it had been raised, as it was also when the President was in Moscow for his historic meeting in May.

IT IS IMPORTANT to understand the position of Kissinger, himself a Jew, in this volatile, emotional matter. His conviction, the motivation back of all that he, and the President have done in promoting better relations with the Communist superpower, larger number of Jews than before.

At his press conference on returning from Moscow, Kissinger was optimistic about the conclusion of a big trade deal with the Russians, perhaps even before the election. Along with the arms agreement it would be a major triumph of the Nixon foreign policy — far more important, as it turns out, than the Nixon television spectacular in Peking. The most-favored nation proposal, part of the deal requiring congressional ratification, will not come up before Congress recesses.

Of the American position on Israel there is not the slightest room for doubt. So strong is the support in Congress for sustaining Israel's military strength that, as one commentator put it, the $400 million in military assistance in the aid bill went through on the back of Israel. Sen. Hugh Scott, the minority leader, threw in an additional $35 million over and above the $50 million for arms for Israel already in the aid package.

MUCH IS BEING made over President Nixon's pledge to stand by Israel, thus signalling the demise of the plan of Sec.of State William P. Rogers for an interim peace settlement in the Middle East and a phased withdrawal to the pre-1967 borders. The Rogers plan has been barely breathing lo, these many months. In terms of the dug-in positions of Israel and Egypt, it was hardly viable.

The Jews are not alone in the vast prison of the Soviet Union. In Lithuania the Catholics were not long ago in open revolt at the suppression of their faith. How all this can be transformed by a fiat from Washington it is impossible to see.

Nuclear Fuel Recycling Plants Save Resources, Environment

In flat sandy pineland near Barnwell, S.C., private enterprise is spending nearly $100 million on a recycling plant that will vastly extend America's potential supply of electric energy.

Built in partnership by Allied Chemical and Gulf Oil companies, the new plant will recycle spent fuel elements from nuclear power plants. Scheduled for completion in 1974, it will be the third privately operated nuclear recycling plant in America.

THESE PLANS — and others like them which are sure to follow —are essential to making nuclear power economically feasible. The uranium rods used as fuel elements in a nuclear power reactor will sustain a chain reaction for about three years. Then the accumulation of fission waste product —the "ashes" of nuclear power — dampens their reaction to the point where they have to be replaced.

At this point, the "spent" fuel elements still contain a large amount of uranium and plutonium. Simply throwing them away would be foolhardy for three reasons. First, in their enormous metal jackets, they would constitute a formidable disposal problem. Second, it would be an enormous waste of a limited natural resource — uranium. And finally, it would greatly increase the cost of nuclear produced electric power, a bill that would be borne ultimately by consumers of electricity.

The Allied-Gulf Barnwell plant will recover annually an amount of nuclear fuel equivalent to that contained in 1,500,000 tons of newly mined uranium. It will serve the recycling needs of more than 30 nuclear power plants which are on line or in various stages of construction in the southeast.

WHEN PLANS for the project were announced, some cries of alarm went up from environmental protection groups. But a special committee of the state legislature, after a long investigation, ruled unanimously that the plant would be as safe as anyone could ask.

A personal inspection of the half-finished facility leads to the same conclusion. Allied-Gulf is bending over backwards, at enormous extra cost, to insure that this plant is super-safe. It will discharge no radioactive waste into the nearby Savannah River, and atmospheric emissions will raise the natural level of radioactivity less than a luminous dial wristwatch does.

After chemical separation from still useful fuel, the radioactive waste materials will go into vast stainless steel tanks, surrounded by thick walls of enriched concrete and vast banks of earth, and continuously monitored by automatic alarm systems that would instantly detect the tiniest leak. The whole installation is earthquake proof, fire proof, tornado proof and hurricane proof.

Allied-Gulf officials showed that the materials will be transported in massive steel and lead containers which can withstand any impact they might conceivably receive in any kind of highway or rail accident.

The shipping precautions are so elaborate that it will cost upwards of $2,000 a ton to transport spent fuel elements from nuclear power plants in the southeast to the Barnwell facility. That's an example of what we're going to have to pay for the environmental protections we're all demanding.

It's obvious that everybody's interested in National Newspaper Week, because so many folks keep telling us, "I used to be a newspaperman once myself!"

We don't know whether those dudes are proud of their past press connections or just bragging because they had sense enough to switch to some other line of work.

You readers would be surprised to know how many dedicated editors, reporters, columnists, proof readers and compositors it takes to make the typographical errors in your daily paper.

The newspaper you now are reading never makes a mistake. And every time it does, it's happy to print a correction.

Why Don't The Candidates Just Adapt Those TV Commercials?

WASHINGTON — The political commercials are now starting to appear on our television screens. Some of them are pretty boring; others are rather tough on the opponents.

It seems to me that the men in charge of making up advertising campaigns for our presidential candidates could do just as well if they would take the TV commercials that are now on the air and paraphrase them for their own use.

FOR EXAMPLE, I could see Pat Nixon cooking a steak over a campfire. She says to the audience, "I've been First Lady for almost four years and yet I feel younger now than when Dick first took the job as President. That's because I exercise, get eight hours sleep, eat right and take iron for my blood. Dick treats me better now than he did when I used to wear a cloth coat."

Just then we see Richard Nixon walking toward Pat. He's dressed in a plaid wool shirt and blue jeans. He comes behind her and kisses her on the neck. Then he says to the camera, "My wife, I think I'll keep her."

Another one could show Sen. George McGovern and his wife in their home.

McGovern says, "I don't feel like going out and campaigning today. I just seem so sluggish and tired these days."

Eleanor looks at him and asks, "Is it uhh . . . irregularity?"

McGovern nods his head sheepishly.

We cut to McGovern at a rally. He's smiling and happy. The crowds are cheering. He hugs Eleanor and says, "I feel great, thanks to you."

Eleanor giggles, ". . . and Snow White Formula 67."

ANOTHER COMMERCIAL could show Spiro Agnew on the golf course playing with Arnie Palmer. Then the camera cuts to the country club locker room. "That was great fun," Agnew says as he takes off his shirt. "I wish I didn't have to go out now and face those rotten, miserable kids. They hate me. I can't understand why."

Arnie Palmer says, "Maybe it has something to do with underarm perspiration."

Agnew says, "But I use a deodorant."

"Yes," says Arnie, holding up a can, "but maybe you need a dry one that lasts all day. When you're out campaigning, most deodorants won't give you 24-hour protection." Agnew takes the can from Arnie.

We cut to Agnew on a college campus. A group of kids, all with beards and wearing beads, are crowded around him and they're laughing. "We want Spiro! We want Spiro!" they start chanting. Then Agnew turns to the camera and winks. "Arnie was right. All deodorants aren't alike."

THE FINAL commercial idea could show Sarge Shriver. First he's eating a pizza in an Italian neighborhood, then he's eating a frankfurter in a Jewish delicatessen, then he's eating Polish ham in a Polish restaurant, then he's eating an Idaho potato on a farm.

Then we cut to Sarge in bed with Eunice. He's groaning and moaning, "I can't believe I ate the . . ."

"Don't say it!" Eunice screams as she jumps out of bed and rushes to the medicine cabinet. She gives him two tablets in a glass of water.

The next morning Sarge, refreshed and sparkling, says to Eunice, "Well, I've got to go to a catfish fry at the All Souls Baptist Church this morning, so just give me some of your delicious scrambled eggs, bacon and an English muffin for breakfast."

Wife Says POW Was 'Coached'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Nancy O'Neil, whose husband is a prisoner in North Vietnam, said Monday she thought he was "coached or propted" in remarks he made for a film that was televised in the United States.

In the film, O'Neil said he was treated well as a POW and "would like to thank the Vietnamese people for this kindness."

O'Neil, an Air Force Lieutenant Colonel, has been a prisoner since his F105 crashed Sept. 29. The film in which he made his remarks was broadcast last weekend on a network news program.

Candidate Linked To Ma Duncan

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Democratic candidate for the state Senate in San Diego was one of the many husbands of Elizabeth Ann (Ma) Duncan, the last woman executed in San Quentin's gas chamber, it has been reported.

In a copyrighted story, the San Jose News said Stephen S. Gillis, who is trying to unseat Sen. Jack Schrade, married Ma Duncan in January, 1954, in what Gillis called a "combined business and social transaction."

Gillis said Ma Duncan told him the marriage was necessary to help release trust funds that she had left in a will. He said in the story, published Monday, that she promised him $50,000 for the marriage but that he was never paid.

Protesting her innocence to the end, Mrs. Duncan was convicted of hiring two men, who were also executed, to murder her pregnant daughterin-law, 30-year-old Olga Duncan, in 1958. Mrs. Duncan was executed Aug. 8, 1962.

Throw Away Sleeping Pills And Tune In Council Meetings

Insomniacs in Southern Sonoma have found they can throw out their bottles of sleeping pills and adopt a cheaper and safer method of dozing off, thanks to the Petaluma City Council.

Council meetings with the countless routine items have long been considered dull. On occasion a dozing citizen can be found at the rear of the room, and even councilmen have been known to drift off in the midst of the tedium.

Now it isn't even necessary to go to the meetings to be lulled to sleep. Radio station KTOB of Petaluma is broadcasting the meetings live and direct from City Hall. If the late night movie isn't old enough or the talk shows dull enough, listening to the council meeting may do the trick.

If city affairs still prove too stimulating, the insomniac could try tuning in the Petaluma Board of Education meetings. Lengthy reports on demographic studies or budget preparation are nearly guaranteed to do the job.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS continually receive plaques and awards from various clubs and organizations, but two Sonoma County supervisors got rather dubious awards last week.

Supervisors Philip L. Joerger of Petaluma nd Robert Theiller of Sebastopol received the "Nobody of the Year awards" from the Sonoma County Prisoner's Coalition for Equality.

During recent violence at the Sonoma County Jail in Santa Rosa, Joerger and Theiller took the hardest stands against making concessions to prisoner demands.

The certificates were sent to each supervisor and noted: "In grateful recognition of a most useless individual, the board of governors hereby presents this award. His accomplishments, activities and expended energy have been completely negligible and absurd."

$40,000 Gift From Entertainer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sammy Davis Jr. explained yesterday why he is giving $40,000 to predominantly Negro colleges by declaring: "I'd like the black students to know there's a cat that's made it."

"The other reason," he added, "is that it's nice to know that I can stand up here and do it, man."

Davis was speaking at a luncheon launching the annual drive of the United Negro College Fund. He said he was donating $1,000 to each of the colleges helped by the fund.

Richard C. Gerstenberg, the General Motors Co. board chairman who also spoke at the luncheon, said his firm was increasing its annual gift to $160,000. It had been $125,000.

At predominantly Negro colleges, he said, black students are members of the majority.

"All of their energies and attention can be focused on the job—to do well academically," he added.

"On the other hand, life at the predominantly white school may not be so simple. At these institutions, their responsibilities as students have to be shared with their responsibilities as members of a minority group."

Catchall Bill Provides Millions For Capitol Detection Devices

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $3.5 billion catchall money bill including $3 million to equip the Capitol and surrounding congressional office buildings with secret television cameras and other detection devices.

The appropriations measure, a supplemental bill which is the last to be acted on by the panel in anticipation of Congress adjourning by Saturday, would also provide $266.5 million more to aid victims of tropical storm Agnes.

The bill traditionally provides money for programs either left out of regular appropriation measures for agencies or which were not authorized when the regular money bills were approved.

Capitol Architect George M. White told the appropriations committee that it would take $3 million to provide the added security Congress asked for after the still unsolved bombing in the Senate wing on March 1, 1971.

White said the new system calls for installation of 104 secret closed circuit television cameras, 45 of them in the Capitol building and the rest in the surrounding Senate and House office buildings.

Additionally, there would be "movement detection" devices in remote corners where cameras could not see which would indicate on a master console that there was movement in an authorized area. Also, police would be equipped with X-ray like machines to check brief cases, purses, satchels or packages carried into the capitol, all of which are now searched by hand by police.

White estimated it would take up to two years to have the system in operation. The project is being carried out with advice from the Secret Service.

The measure sets aside for the Department of Housing and Urban Development $266.5 million more for urban renewal grants earmarked for communities devastated by tropical storm Agnes last June. The extra money will be added to $200 million in urban renewal funds appropriated earlier and which is still available and is also earmarked for Agnes victims.

Eiffel Tower Weakness Denied

A spokesman for the company that runs the famous landmark said, "The tower is in excellent condition and its steel structure is not weakening at all."

He said the company spends an average $700,000 a year for the upkeep of the tower.

I'm Cheryl. Millions of people flew me last year.

And by "me," I don't mean just me. I mean Sandy, Undra, Denise, Judy. I mean: National.

We made a lot of new friends last year by being warm and friendly. We like people. And we promised to make people feel liked. Then we delivered what we promised.

It's fun to fly us. And convenient. We've got more flights to Miami than anybody else. We've also got the only DC-10s and the only direct night coach. Or fly us to New Orleans. We've got the only nonstops and the only direct night coach there, too. And we have more flights to Houston than anybody else (and the only direct night coach).

Last year was great. We think this year's going to be greater. With even more new friends. Maybe you.

'Sawyer' Stamp Will Be Issued In Twain Hometown

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Design of the Tom Sawyer commemorative postage stamp in the American Folklore series has been made public by the U.S. Postal Service.

The 8-cent stamp will be issued Friday in Hannibal, Mo., where Tom and Huck and Becky and Jim "lived," as did Mark Twain, who created the.

A Norman Rockwell painting of the celebrated fence whitewashing episode is the basis for the stamp. A replica hangs in the Hannibal Museum, and it appears also in "The Adventure of Tom Sawyer," produced by the Heritage Press in 1936.

Tom Sawyer buffs will forgive Norman Rockwell's artistic license in reducing the height of the fence. It really was nine feet high and extended

Bradbury Thompson designed the Tom Sawyer stamp. It was modeled by Thomas Kronen, engraved by Joseph S. Creamer Jr. (vignette) and Robert C. Culin Sr. (lettering) of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It will be printed by two passes through the offset press: yellow and tan; blue and red. Red, brown, and black will be added by the Giori press. The print order is 135 million. One plate number will appear on each pane of 50 stamps.

Tam State Park Group To Meet

Interested groups of individuals have been invited to attend a formation meeting of a new citizens' advisory committee for Mount Tamalpais State Park at 8 p.m. Oct. 25.

The meeting, scheduled for Room 108, Building C, at the College of Marin, is being sponsored by the Mountain Play Association with the assistance of the Marin Conservation League and the Tamalpais Conservation Club.

The aim of the committee, according to Richard M. Sims Jr., president of the Mountain Play Association, will be to assist the state Department of Parks and Recreation in ascertaining the needs and wishes of the community for the use of the park.

Fischer To Play Brazilian Ace

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— Brazilian chess grandmaster Henrique Mecking said Monday he will play world chess champion Bobby Fischer of the United States next year in Sao Paulo in a friendly match.

Mecking said the championship will not be at stake but that Fischer has asked $200,000 to play him.

"The figure is too high but I believe Fischer will reduce his demand," Mecking said.

He said the match will be in April or March of 1973.

Birdwatchers Give Low Marks To The Legislature On Ecology

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The legislature this year may have helped toward creating a "better" environment, but its record on ecological issues hasn't changed much over the past three years, a vote monitoring group reported today.

Legislative Birdwatchers, Inc., a band of unpaid volunteers which keeps tabs on lawmakers' environmental voting patterns, also said legislative committees have been plagued by chronic absenteeism.

One-third of the members in each house has been absent from committee meetings more than 20 per cent of the time, the group reported, and one lawmaker, Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, showed a 70 per cent absentee rate.

In its 27-page 1972 Environmental Voting Index, Birdwatchers reported the legislature has a 63 per cent average in approving measures aimed at protecting the environment.

The legislature's three-year average for supporting environmental proposals was reported at 65 per cent, but the organization noted several antipollution measures which already have been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"After three years of operation the Legislative Birdwatchers see a brighter environment resulting from the 1972 session," the report said. "True the session is incomplete but the environment looks better."

The group pointed to Reagan-signed bills creating a state solid waste management system and authorizing, pending voter approval, a $250 million bond issue for park and land acquisition. Both bills were vetoed in 1971 by Reagan.

The group also cited another bill signed by Reagan which makes it tougher for industries to be granted air pollution variances.

Since its creation in 1970, Birdwatchers has concentrated on monitoring committee hearings. The group was credited with stimulating the new rule last spring requiring recorded committee votes.

Along with the study on environmental voting patterns, the organization reported on committee practices and absenteeism.

"From our data, it can be seen that one-third of each house is absent from committee more than 20 per cent of the time," the report said. "Partial absenteeism is even higher but far more difficult to calculate."

Inmates Drunk, Beat Up Guards

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A group of inmates drunk on a homemade brew called "pruno," beat up two guards at the Nevada State Prison Monday, but officers quelled the disturbance with tear gas grenades.

Warden Carl Hocker said the trouble started when guards noticed several inmates vissing at lunch. Two officers, Sgt. Gene Guthrie and correctional officer Martin Krause, went to the handicraft shop on the second floor where they found seven inmaes.

Some of the inmates were drunk on "pruno" — a brew made of fruit, sugar, juice and bread — and attacked the two guards, he said.

Behr Gets Better Report Card Than Bagley From Watchdogs

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin's two state legislators today got sharply different report cards on their voting records on environmental measures.

Legislative Birdwatchers, a three-year-old group of students and housewives who closely monitor votes in committees and on floors of the Assembly and Senate, issued their annual ratings today.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, got a 91 "per cent positive" rating for votes on the floor and a 92 per cent rating for votes in committee.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, got a 56 per cent rating on the floor and a 65 per cent rating in committee. The report noted that his rating for floor votes had plunged from 92 per cent in 1970 through last year's 84 per cent to this year's 56 per cent.

Behr's floor record, however, went up from 64 per cent last year to 91 per cent. His committee rating was 100 per cent last year.

The rating percentage is expressed as a ratio of "aye" votes compared with the number of opportunities a legislator had to vote.

Bagley, according to the report, voted "aye" 27 times on environmental bills selected by the Birdwatchers, "no" four times, and was recorded as not voting 13 times. Behr was reported as having voted "yes" 22 times, "no" once and as not voting once.

The annual report commented "it is important that conservation-minded voters have this information in their hands before election day."

500,000th U.C. Student Registers

BERKELEY (UPI) — A freshman from Los Gatos Monday was honored as the 500,000th person to register at the University of California's Berkeley campus.

Carolyn Cooper Cronquist was presented a plaque on the steps of the campus' South Hall. The ceremony also marked the 100th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of South Hall.

10-SPEED BICYCLE FREE!

Your child can earn a $90.00 bicycle while he improves his reading and math skills!

Sullivan materials have earned a reputation nation-wide for motivating children to learn and for developing reading and mathematics skills. Time magazine, for example, comments:

"(Sullivan's) step-by-step procedure helps a teacher spot precisely what is puzzling a child—and the method frees her to give such children help without holding up others . . . in careful comparison with children taught by conventional methods, programmed reading has consistently come out on top."

But even the most exciting and innovative teaching materials cannot consistently hold a child's interest . . . especially when they are supplemental to a regular study schedule. "Learning for learning's sake" is often not enough.

At Sullivan Educational Centers we are well aware of this problem . . . and we have done something about it!

We have arranged to purchase 10-speed bicycles (which retail at up to $113.50) for our students at $90.00 each. Every student will "earn" one free "BIKE BUCK" for each hour of instruction that he takes between September 20, 1972, and March 1, 1973, at any of our twenty Sullivan Educational Centers. Each "BIKE BUCK" is worth $1.00 toward the purchase of his 10-speed bicycle. If he accumulates 90 "BIKE BUCKS", he will receive his own 10-speed, absolutely free!

Of course, any number of lessons may be taken, and any number of "BIKE BUCKS" redeemed to purchase a bicycle, the difference to be made up in cash.

BICYCLES ARE ON DISPLAY AT ALL CENTERS.

Miss Abrams Still Is A Record-Maker

'Mill Valley' Composer Looks Back

By BETTY FROST

In the spring of 1970 a pretty brunette kindergarten teacher recorded an original song, "Mill Valley," using 26 third-grade children from Strawberry Point School as a chorus to reinforce the catchy melody. The song brought fame to both Mill Valley and to Rita Abrams.

What happened after that?

Rita Abrams appeared on major television shows, was featured in national magazines, including both the "Weekly Reader," distributed to schoolchildren, and "the Rolling Stone."

Her song was adopted as the official song for the city of Mill Valley.

RITA ABRAMS, the young teacher whose song, "Mill Valley" — recorded with third-graders from Strawberry Point School — brought her sudden fame, talks about the changes the record brought. Sharing the limelight is her orange cat, Crunchy, also affectionately known as "fat dummy."

THE SONG, played all over the U.S., put her in touch with all kinds of people, including old friends from Ohio where she grew up, and Michigan and Boston where she attended college. She is still getting letters.

In all the excitement, she lost 10 pounds.

The third-graders are now in the sixth grade.

A new record album, "Miss Abrams and the Strawberry Point Children," has just been released on the Reprise label. Included are 10 songs. "Mill Valley" is one of them, and the most recent, "Sweet Summertime" also is featured.

Working in "Mill Valley, that's my home," as her lyrics say, she is writing children's songs and scripts for film strips for Harcourt, Brace and Jovanovich, a San Francisco firm. She still uses children's voices, but now they are different children, because "I wanted to share the experience with more children," she said.

GENEROUS WITH her time, Miss Abrams has appeared locally at Parent-Teacher Association benefits and before community groups interested in the welfare of children.

Deeply involved in the political campaign of Presidential candidate George S. McGovern, Rita has written a McGovern song, which has been recorded. She has sung it in the Bay Area and it is to be used for benefits. The recording is being distributed to McGovern headquarters throughout the country, and copies will be sold to raise campaign funds.

What Rita Abrams did not do was "to sell out to commercialism," she said. While in New York for an appearance on the "To Tell the Truth" show, she was approached by some national concerns to make commercials with the schoolchildren.

"Commercialism would have changed everything," she said, "I just didn't want to do that. Perhaps we would have been wealthy by now, but I am glad that we made that choice."

Although she has been working with children on musical productions, the former teacher says, "I like to do more than just music with children."

She thinks wistfully of her teaching days in Mill Valley. Will Rita Abram's world come full circle one day, as the talented composer and performer returns to the classroom?

What is certain is that both music and children are very much a part of her life.

Marin Women

MARINITES INVOLVED

Unusual Group In Unusual Play

By BARBARA HOSMER

An unusual group will present an unusual musical play this weekend and next at Gunn High School in Palo Alto, and already some 400 Marinites are planning to attend.

The play is "Thirteen Is a Mystical Number," and the related groups putting it on are Creative Initiative Foundation and Build the Earth.

The play was created, written and its music composed by members of the foundation. Members play all parts, designed and made costumes and cook the food — serving at the "wedding celebration" that follows each performance.

It is all a part of the 1,500-member group's philosophy and the effort to tell others about it. The Bay Area-originated foundation works quietly, largely through series of seminars in members' homes throughout the area, toward bringing humanity to its highest potential. "Challenge to Change," they call it.

The educational foundation says its main purpose is "to research the educational process by which man can learn to become more creatively responsive and solve the man-made problems of the world."

Peace, brotherhood and freeing human beings from environmental conditioning for greater growth are among its goals.

LOCALLY, THE Build the Earth group became active in the mid 1960s as a small group of women who began conducting daytime educational courses for women on a nonprofit basis. It grew out of a Palo Alto group and, in 1968, Creative Initiative Foundation was incorporated as a Bay Area group.

Mrs. Dan Dippery of Corte Madera is one of the original Build the Earth members in Marin. She explains that the foundation was started when the women's husbands became interested in the goals.

Members brought friends and the groups have expanded, now reaching beyond the Bay Area to Denver, Portland, and other cities.

Their show was created last year and premiered last spring in Palo Alto to sellout houses. More performances were added.

This fall, performances will be held this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and matinees are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m. Similar performances will be held Oct. 20, 21 and 22 the same hours, all in the Gunn High School auditorium.

THE MUSICAL drama is a combined effort of nearly all of the 1,500 members, who include university professors, engineers, businessmen and their wives. Players are not named, to eliminate a star system, but Marinites participating include Shirley Wilkerson of Kentfield, Tod Fleming of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beans of Mill Valley.

Others are preparing the foods and helping with the production, while still others will lead a series of discussion groups on the concepts of the play.

"It's really a good, entertaining show, aside from the concepts," explained Mrs. Louis G. Harding of Mill Valley, who with her husband has been a foundation member for several years. "Children love it."

The foundation concept of building a human community beyond nationalism, racism, religious sectarianism, totalitarianism, provincialism and extremes of privilege is brought out at the end of the drama called "Portent," the vision of what mankind can be, and climaxed with the wedding song and celebration, which includes the audience.

Billed as a musical drama of a living myth, the play begins with man's myths throughout time to answer "Who am I?" and "Where am I going?"

Creative Initiative Foundation members are seeking to travel in a personal way a considerable distance along that eternal road. Their show, they hope, may be a small roadmarker along the way.

Pair United In Kentfield Garden Rite

A ceremony in the garden of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warwick J. Hayes Jr. in Kentfield on Sept. 30 united in marriage their son, John S. Snelham of Sausalito, and Cynthia Jean Johnson of San Francisco.

Sharon Patires was maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Jean Hornbeck. Both are residents of San Francisco.

Warwick J. Hayes III of Mill Valley was his brother's best man, and another brother of the bridegroom, Michael J. Dorn of Berkeley, was the usher.

A reception at the Hayes home followed the ceremony.

Cynthia graduated from high school in Iowa and Briarcliff College in Sioux City, Iowa. She is employed by Aviva Imports in San Francisco. Her brothers are Reynolds and Randall Johnson, both of Iowa.

John graduated from San Rafael Military Academy, attended Claremont College and received a degree from the University of Arizona. He is employed by Industrial Indemnity, Inc., in San Francisco. His sisters are Mrs. James Wheatley of San Bernardino, Allison Hayes of Sausalito and Tracy Hayes of Tempe, Ariz.

The newlyweds will live in Sausalito following a wedding trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Tea Ceremony

The Japanese tea ceremony, Cha-no-yu, is formal and exact, but marked by simplicity. Sen no Rikyu (1521-1591), known as the great tea master of his century, expresses a feeling for simplicity:

"Just one kettle
Is enough for cha-no-yu;
How lacking in surety to yearn

Grantley R. Berringer Weds Elaine Lejarza

Elaine Josephine Lejarza and Grantley Robert Berringer, both of San Rafael, exchanged marriage vows Sept. 30 in a ceremony at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael.

They will make their home in San Rafael after their wedding trip to Santa Cruz and Solvang.

The best man was Volker Schultz of San Anselmo. Ed Lejarza, the bride's brother, and Kim Walton of Corte Madera seated the guests.

Elaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lejarza of San Rafael. She is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and is employed with Moore's Stationery in San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. Grantley H. Berringer of San Rafael are the bridegroom's parents. Grantley graduated from San Rafael High School and is employed with Herb's Pool Service in San Rafael.

He is the brother of Sue and Mike Berringer of San Rafael and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Berringer of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mathiasen of Sebastopol.

Miss Amans Marries In Los Gatos Church

Cathy Lynn Amans and David Clarke Serell of San Jose were married at Los Gatos Christian Church on Sept. 30.

Cathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Amans of San Rafael, and David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Serell of Gladstone, Ore.

Lorraine Pace of San Jose was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Judy Corum of San Jose, Carolee Hulse of Elgin, Ore., Ann Serell of Gladstone, sister of the bridegroom, and Linds Glen of Paradise.

Keith Corum of San Jose was best man. Ushers were Larry and Garry Amans of San Rafael, brothers of the bride, and Tom Johnston and Dean Marsh of San Rafael.

Following a reception at Fireside Hall at Los Gatos Church the couple went on a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park. They will live in Campbell.

The bride graduated from Terra Linda High School and San Jose Bible School. She is employed at Los Gatos Christian Church. Her local grandmother is Mrs. Vina M. Fritz of San Rafael.

The bridegroom graduated from West Linn High School and Oregon State University in Corvallis. He is employed at General Electric Co. in San Jose.

ACT Friends Meet Actresses In S.F.

By MOLLY MARIN

Friends of American Conservatory Theater actresses Katherine Grant Crosby, wife of Bing Crosby, and Deborah May, Miss Indiana of 1971, at a noon luncheon at the San Francisco home of Mrs. John Relfe today.

The actresses, recent graduates of ACT's conservatory, are acting in its "The House of Blue Leaves" production.

Attending the luncheon from Marin were Mmes. Edward McCrum of Kentfield, Joseph Barton of Ross, Richard Canaday of Tiburon and Mervyn Field, Peter Shloss, Mark Noble and Adolph Mueller II, all of Belvedere.

Serving the lunch — which will launch ACT's membership drive — will be San Francisco Symphony regional members, including Mrs. Thomas Drohan of Tiburon. Their services were purchased by Mrs. Mueller at a spring symphony auction.

A STAINED glass window was dedicated Saturday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Connally of Laguna Hills at Mill Valley Community Church.

Former Mill Valley residents, the Connallys are founding members of the church. The dedication, arranged by their daughter, Mrs. Carl Siegmund of Laguna Hills, and their son, Paul Connally of Newport Beach, was a surprise to the couple in celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary.

Following the dedication the Connallys were honored at a buffet supper, hosted by Nelda Siegmund and her husband and the Paul Connallys, at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The couples grand children and great-grandchildren also attended.

MRS. L. HENRY Garland of San Rafael and Bert W. Levit of San Francisco were married last week in Carmel.

Attending a party held prior to their marriage on Sept. 30 at Mrs. Garland's home, were the couple's sons and daughters and their husbands and wives. The new Mrs. Levit is the mother of Mrs. James C. Merrifield Jr., Mrs. Richard Harrington, Mrs. Victor Caglieri, Michael Garland and Mrs. Earl Reeves, who was unable to attend the party. Victor B. and Roger Levit, the bridegroom's sons, and their wives also attended the party in their parents' honor.

MORE THAN 100 guests attended the champagne supper given after the opening night performance of Oedipus Rex at the Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts Thursday. Supper was served in the lobby of the center.

Cast members were honored and mingled with first-nighters at the party, which was sponsored by the center's board of directors. Mrs. Mary L. Balmer was chairman, and David Ames did the decorating.

CELEBRATING THEIR 25th wedding anniversary Sept. 28 were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Woods of Novato. The night before, they were accompanied to the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito for dinner by their daughter Sandy, and Mrs. Louis Rodriguez, also of Novato.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tschache were hosts at their home for a surprise party for the Woodses the following night.

Parents Advised On Overprotection

NEW YORK (UPI) —Parents should not protect their children from the concept of death, according to an article in the National Association of Mental Health Reporter.

Quoting Rabbi Earl A. Crollman of Beth El Temple Center in Belmont, Mass., the report advises: "At the time of a death the child should not be shut away or abandoned, but should share the experience, be given realistic answers and even the option of whether or not to attend the funeral."

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Writer Wants To Break A Silly Record. . .Break Out Pen And Ink

DEAR SUE:

It's a big fad around here to break a silly record, like holding a kiss longer than anyone else, or a college dorm floor keeping the hall phone in continuous use for five days and nights, no silences, no hang-ups.

I'm looking for a new record to break — and I'm really not for taking the longest shower in history or playing ping-pong 85 hours.

Could you suggest one that doesn't need all that exertion or mess up your sleep? — LAZY RECORD BREAKER

DEAR LRB:

Why don't you write a mile-long letter? If you use adding machine rolls and take a month, you could easily break the 1954 record of a Brooklyn girl who wrote a six-tenths-mile letter to her soldier boyfriend in Korea. — SUE

NOTE FROM HELEN: But no one can top the world's record for shortest letter exchange: Victor Hugo, on holiday, wanted to know how his new novel, "Les Miserables" was doing. To his publisher, he wrote, "?" The reply, "!" — H.

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I observe people as a hobby. And I've come onto something: About 70 per cent of extremely overweight people are conspicuously knock-kneed. My question is: Are knock-kneed persons born with a tendency to get fat (something in their cell distribution, perhaps, as most have unusually large hilps and waists, smaller shoulders) or does their weight push their legs out of line? — DARWIN

DEAR DAR:

Tell you what you do: take your tally to the research department of your local college and maybe you'll be the instigator of a new "weighting game." — HELEN

DAR:

What Mom means is she doesn't know, but wishes she did. Me too. — SUE

P.S. Here's one more theory: extreme knock-knees might make running or other forms of exercise difficult. Thus the person would tend to fatten up, especially around waist and hips? — HELEN AND SUE

DEAR SUE:

Is there room for one more argument in favor of girls taking typing in school? Two years ago I would have cheered "College and Career Bound" in her ambition to be free from typewriters, as she sought a less typically female career. (The old "Yes, but can you type?" thing.) But I would have been dead wrong. I too despised the thought of office work and shunned practical business courses in high school.

I went to college on a scholarship and found myself in need of extra income. When you're looking for part-time student work, you aren't offered fascinating positions. If you have no skills, you end up waiting tables (though I found that requires skill, too — I dropped a lot of dishes.)

I discovered then that a steady flow of college graduates head for business schools, which are not free. I also learned office work can be very satisfying —and it leads to even more interesting careers.

As Helen said, typing should be a required course for both boys and girls, in grade school. It's foolish to pass up a saleable skill when you can learn for nothing. As for getting stuck in an undesirable job, the words, "I resign" are great liberators. — PATRICIA

DEAR PAT:

I know when I'm licked. All you typists' beautiful, well-written, neat, readable arguments convinced me. I've enrolled in a typing class.

Qwert-Poiuy. (That's my typewriter's way of saying thank you.) — SUE

DEAR TYPISTS ALL:

Here's Mama's thank you, too. You readers stepped in where parents made no headway . . .and guess who will be doing final drafts of the column by Christmas. — HELEN

'Play Day' Saturday In San Anselmo

Students at San Domenico School for Girls will host several hundred girls from private schools in the Bay Area Saturday at the San Anselmo school's 39th annual play day.

Sporting events, which begin at 9 a.m., will include swimming, volleyball, archery, hockey, badminton and ping pong. A horse show will begin at 1:30 p.m.

"It's a Small World" is the theme for the day, and entertainment will include ethnic songs and dances from Scandinavian, Western European, Russian and South American countries.

Participating schools are Katherine Delmar Burke School, Sarah Dix Hamlin School, St. Rose Academy and Convent of the Sacred Heart, all in San Francisco; Katharine Branson School in Ross; Castilleja in Palo Alto; Santa Catalina in Monterey; Crystal Springs School in Hillsborough; the Anna Head School in Oakland; and Convent of the Sacred Heart in Menlo Park.

Children Spend Day At Beach

A group of boys and girls aged 5 to 11 spent Saturday at Dillon Beach, exploring and climbing as part of the Marin YMCA sponsored Saturday Fun Camp.

Future camp sessions will include games, trips, hikes, barbecues, overnights and craft activities. Trips to Bear Valley and Golden Gate Park are planned, as is a bike day on Angel Island.

There is room for additional children during the current eight-week session, said camp director Jim Lombard, and another session will start Jan. 6.

NOSTALGIA MIXED — Here's a subtle screening device supported by spring tension poles that has the look of Victorian wickerwork. Part of the Galway line by Burwood Products, it provides gentle persuasion in the area of privacy between eating and sitting zones.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Tension Poles Are Little Trouble

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
Distributed by General Features Corp.

You don't hear much dialogue these days about tension poles. For a few years manufacturers seemed to have caught on to their versatility and we saw many innovative products based on the use of the tension system.

They do work. I've used a pair of tension pole lamps for about 12 years. They're little trouble and stay just where I put them. Originally purchased for a living room, they now have been split and one works as a night and reading light, right next to the bed. The other does double duty: It floods a painting with light and provides mood light for a walk-through den-sitting room.

Tension poles still get heavy use to support storage wall systems. They make sense because not everyone can or wants to attach shelves and cabinets to the walls of their home or apartment.

Another neat trick with tension poles is shown today. It's a room divider to emulate the now popular wicker. Although it has a lot of the charm of wicker, the screen is actually mounted on floor-to-ceiling spring tension poles.

Each unit is composed of two 24-inch by 36-inch panels and comes with two tapered poles. To create the double-panel divider, you buy an add-on unit that includes two small panels and one pole. The poles adjust to fit ceilings from seven feet, 10 inches to eight feet, 4 inches. And for special cases, there is an extension unit available that provides another 12 inches.

See-through dividers, such as these, can be as versatile a decorating asset as pole lamps. The screens can be arranged to baffle the view from front door to living room sitting area. So many houses built since the 1950s have neglected to provide privacy at the front entry. The moment the doorbell rings and the door is opened, there's a feeling of exposure for anyone sitting in the living room.

A pair of screens might be just the right amount of separation necessary in a room shared by two growing children. It offers subtle demarcation without one or the other child having to say "keep off."

Heart Disease Can Be Reduced

A sensible diet can reduce coronary heart disease, according to the National Academy of Sciences and the American Medical Association.

Both groups are in agreement with the American Heart Association that a high level of cholesterol in the blood plasma is a risk factor that can be modified by diet and other means.

ON THE AGENDA

Carnival Will Be Held Sunday In Our Lady Of Loretto School

A carnival will be held Sunday from 12:45 p.m. to 5 p.m. at Our Lady of Loretto School in Novato.

There will be 25 booths, games and rides, according to carnival chairman, Mrs. Michael O'Brien of Novato.

Entertainment will include Mr. Pockets, the man with a coatful of surprises, and booths will offer items handcrafted by the Ursuline Sisters, Christmas gifts, candy and country store items.

"A NIGHT on the Range" is the theme for a party for members of the Old Mill Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers Sunday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brewster in Mill Valley.

Chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walter of Greenbrae, who are being assisted by the Robert Stotts of Mill Valley. Committee chairmen are Messrs. and Mmes. John Holm and Jack Shapiro, gifts; J. Paul Hurd and Ernest Brymer, decorations; and Mrs. William Guerin of Mill Valley, reservations.

A LUNCHEON will be given Saturday at noon at Oakmont in Santa Rosa for members of the San Francisco-Peninsula-Marin Alumnae Chapter of Phi Mu sorority.

Marin reservations chairman is Mrs. Walter C. Thierbach of Tiburon. Hostesses are Mmes. James W. Walker, Alex Johnston and C. E. Engstrom, all of Oakmont.

ROY FARRINGTON Jones of Ross will be the speaker at the meeting of the Docent Program of the Marin Symphony Auxiliary's Tour Marin program tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the Tamalpais Retirement Residence in Greenbrae.

At this, the fourth program in the series, Jones will show photographs of Marin before and after the Golden Gate Bridge and the Waldo Tunnel were built.

MEMBERS OF the Novato Parents Nursery School are having an Oktoberfest party Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church in Ignacio.

Chairmen are Mmes. Matthew Sullivan, Charles Linthicum and Edwin Rajeski, and committee chairmen are Mmes. Michael Drown, reservations; Jerome Lakos, publicity; Britt Finley, decorations; Steve White, music; Kenneth Briggs, gifts; Barney Griswold, beverages, and Peter Scovill, cleanup.

Mrs. Vinci Elected Credit Women Leader

Myrtle Vinci of Corte Madera is the new president of the Credit Women of Marin. During five years of membership she has served as vice president and secretary.

MRS. EDWARD R. VINCI
Elected by credit women

The organization's purpose, according to the new president, is to keep its members, all of whom work full-time in credit, up to date on credit laws, policies and information.

The credit women have a "bosses' night" and a social event to honor the past president every year. Other activities are district seminars and conferences.

Mrs. Vinci, employed by the Independent-Journal as credit manager, also is a member of the Credit Managers in San Francisco. She is a native of Eugene, Ore., where she attended the University of Oregon and business college. She has lived in Marin for 23 years.

The new president and her husband, Edward R. Vinci, are the parents of Sandra Vinci, who is attending Zagreb Institute in Yugoslavia, as part of Portland State University's overseas study program. Vinci is a bartender.

Marriage Problems Helped By Lights

NEW YORK (UPI) —Married couples with communication problems are receiving therapeutic help from a computerized light transmitter, patented by Prof. Edwin J. Thomas of the University of Michigan School of Social Work.

While discussing some aspect of their marriage, a husband and wife can send green or red light signals to register agreement or disagreement with what their partner is saying. The conversation and signals are recorded on tape for assessment by the therapist later.

Lombardo Due In Marin Oct. 18

Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians will bring "the sweetest music this side of heaven" to Marin County Oct. 18 when they play in concert at the Marin Veterans' Memorial Auditorium.

The Lombardo orchestra, now in its 58th year, will turn back the clock for Marinites who remember when the big band was supreme, and tunes like "Boo Hoo," "Little White Lies," and "You're Driving Me Crazy," were popular. Lombardo composed those and more than 300 other song hits during his career.

The Marin performance, part of a tour of Northern California, will feature the most famous of Lombardo's oldtime favorites, along with some new songs played in the Lombardo style. The concert starts at 8:30 p.m.

GUY LOMBARDO
Concert at memorial

Born in Ontario, Canada, of Italian descent, Lombardo and two brothers, Carmen and Lebert joined to form the band that had its first big break at the Hotel Roosevelt Grill in New York City in 1929. Later the Canadians played throughout the country, and Lombardo further enhanced his fame by creating the first nationally syndicated radio show.

The band got its "sweetest side" label from a Chicago music critic in a 1928 review. Throughout the years, the song most closely associated with Lombardo has been "Auld Lang Syne," with which he traditionally closes his show.

The peak of Lombardo's career came in 1969, when the Canadians played New York's Carnegie Hall. Despite his years at the Roosevelt Grill, Lombardo had never played in the great theater.

A Spate Of Viet Peace Rumors Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Well-placed U.S. officials say they expect many more Vietnam peace rumors between now and the Nov. 7 presidential election. But they doubt that President Nixon will ease his settlement terms significantly in the interim.

A pair of news reports — a London story saying a broad agreement had been reached in secret negotiations and a Saigon piece saying the allies would make a new pre-election peace offer — sent reporters scurrying to their sources Friday.

The White House sought publicly to discredit such accounts which were denied also in Hanoi and Saigon. Similar speculation the preceding week likewise prompted official denials and the stock market moved up with peace rumors and down afterward.

Yet more such reports can be anticipated particularly as the presidential campaign heats up.

Here are some reasons why:

—Nixon obviously would like to have an Indochina peace settlement before Nov. 7. U.S. politicians, including Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, agree that a pre-election deal to end the war would be a vote winner for Nixon.

—The repeated trips by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger to see Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in Paris, plus other evidences of diplomatic activity such as last week's talks by Kissinger's aide, Maj. Gen. Alexander Haig, with President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon.

—Remarks by administration leaders which some take as hints of progress in the negotiations. Nixon told newsmen Thursday, for instance, that "the negotiations are in a sensitive stage."

The recurring peace rumors generally include a report that Thieu will step down as part of a settlement. Ouster of the Thieu regime is a key enemy demand.

On this, administration officials note Nixon has repeatedly stressed — as he did again Thursday — that "we will never agree to a settlement which would impose a Communist government directly or indirectly on the people of South Vietnam." Haig was said to have reassured Thieu that Nixon would not dump Thieu for the sake of a pre-election peace deal.

To the contrary, the privately expressed administration theme is that the Vietnamese Communists would be better off accepting Nixon's cease-fire terms now because he is unlikely to ease them later. This is based on an assumption that Nixon will win Nov. 7. After the election, he would not be under the campaign pressure he is now.

Judy's Lorna Makes Supper Club Debut

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lorna Luft, the late Judy Garland's "other daughter", made her New York supper club debut Monday night singing songs that leaned heavily on nostalgia and her mother's memory.

The pert 19-year-old sister of established star, Liza Minnelli, has a throaty voice, fuzzy at the edges and without much quality. When she really concentrates on a big emotional effect, she makes an impact that might deepen with time and experience. Except for fleeting moments she neither looks nor sounds like Judy.

However Lorna, like Liza in the early days of her career, cashes in on being Judy's daughter. Her choice of "Mama Rainbow" an unmistakable tribute to her mother, and her concluding rendition of Judy's favorite "Let Me Sing A Happy Song" was a little too obvious for comfort, or for inducing a lump in the throat of the hearer.

Indeed, the whole evening under the direction of Judy's favorite conductor, Gene Palumbo, seemed dated for a teenager. A big segment was devoted to a medley of 1950's songs such as "Rock Around The Clock," and there were musical allusions to the 40's, 30's and 20's. Lorna would be well advised to make her repertoire more contemporary.

The singer arrived in New York via engagements in Houston, San Francisco, and Miami nightclubs. She was attractively gowned in clinging cinnamon jersey by Halston, Liza's favorite designer, and later in a more theatrical blue midriff costume by Ray Agahyan. She interspersed her singing with some frenetic dancing accompanied by two male partners.

Her audience included such show business personalities as Tony Perkins, Ruth Ford, Trini Lopez, Ruth Gordon and Alan Bates. If they expected to hear echoes of Judy Garland's throbbing voice and poignant style, they were disappointed. Lorna Luft has her own special talent and enough poise (although she said she was "terrified"), professionalism and sensitivity to develop it independently of the past.

Earthquake Equipment Being Tested

STANFORD (UPI) —Scientists at Stanford University are testing equipment that can help predict how a building will behave in an earthquake.

Called a "Fourier Analysis System," the apparatus was developed by Hewlett-Packard Co. of Palo Alto for manufacturing and research uses. The Stanford engineers developed its application to measuring structural vibrations.

The apparatus is so sensitive that it detects slight vibrations of a multistory building even in light winds, according to professor Haresh C. Shah.

The equipment varies, but Shah said it usually contains a laser interfermoter that measures movement to one-millionth of an inch.

Charles Kircher, a doctoral candidate at Stanford, set up an analyzer in Hoover Tower, a landmark which dominates the campus. He found that the 285-foot structure sways back and forth once each second in the wind.

Shah says Hoover Tower could be expected to vibrate considerably in a major earthquake such as the 1906 earthquake in the Bay Area.

Most major earthquakes shake the earth at the frequency range of zero to 25 cycles per second. When earthquake and building vibrations match, Shah said, the "resonant" vibrations of the building grow larger.

Knox Claims Overreaction To Building Safety Code

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, said Monday that many local agencies "overreacted" when they learned the Environmental Quality Act applied to private construction.

Knox, author of the statute, told a press conference that 95 per cent of all building permits in California would not be affected by the law or the recent state Supreme Court interpretation of it.

The court upheld the law saying projects having a "significant" effect on the environment must undergo environmental impact studies before the issue of a building permit by any local jurisdiction.

As a result of the decision many city and county agencies have imposed a ban on building, plumbing and electrical permits.

Confusion, he said, was caused because the law requires reports only on projects having "significant" impact. He added amendments, to be presented to the Senate next month and already approved by the Assembly, would clarify the difficulty.

"Significant effect on the environment," the amendments say in part, "includes those effects which have the potential to degrade the quality of the environment, curtail the range of the environment and serve short-term to the detriment of long-term environmental goals," the lawmaker said.

The law, he said, was never intended to halt or delay construction of a single-family home in an area zoned for such residences. He added it was not intended to prevent someone from putting a new roof on his home.

Knox said, "Ninety-five per cent of all the building permits in California cover work which does not have a significant impact on the environment."

Youth Music Programs To Start New Season

The Marin Symphony Association announces that its 1972-73 season of youth programs will include concerts by the Marin Youth Orchestra, the 50-member workshop for strings and the Orchestra Piccola, a chamber group selected from the outstanding players of the youth orchestra.

Now in its 19th year, the Marin Youth Orchestra is composed of 92 of Marin's most talented musicians from high schools and elementary schools.

Under the direction of Hugo Rinaldi, the orchestra will perform two full symphonic programs at the Veterans Memorial Building at the civic center on Jan. 17 and May 9. The Jan. 17 concert is for members of the Marin Symphony Association only.

The 27-member Orchestra Piccola, also conducted by Rinaldi, will be hear Feb. 28 together with the combined high school choirs of Drake, Novato, Redwood, San Domenico, San Marin, San Rafael, Tamalpais and Terra Linda.

The children's series will include the May 9 Marin Youth Orchestra Event and three special concerts, beginning with a "sit-in concert" Oct. 14 at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. In this concert, children aged 5 to 12 years will be brought inside the orchestra and seated on each side of the musicians.

"Music-in-the-Round" is scheduled Jan. 20 at the San Rafael High School gymnasium and an outdoor concert is planned May 19 at Tamalpais High School, Mill Valley.

The workshop for strings, an ensemble and training program to prepare young string players for admission to the Marin Youth Orchestra, will present two concerts this season under the direction of Joyce McIlvain.

The Marin Symphony Association will join the Marin Civic Ballet, Marin Junior Theater and Marin Museum Association in the "Youth in Arts" program to present cultural events to Marin children at Veterans Memorial Building during school hours.

Arrigoni's Campaign Schedule

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will meet with voters at six reelection campaign events this week, including one joint coffee with his challenger, Barbara Boxer.

Neighborhood meetings for Arrigoni will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Kentfield home of Jack Meister, 145 Poplar Drive; 8 p.m. tomorrow at the San Anselmo home of Lee Eggleston, 31 Mountain View Avenue; 8 p.m. Thursday at the San Anselmo home of James Reed, 100 Spring Grove Avenue; 1:30 p.m. Friday at the San Anselmo home of Pamela Miller, 84 Oak Springs Drive (with Mrs. Boxer), and at 8 p.m. Friday at the Fairfax home of Mrs. M. H. Durr, 470 Cascade Drive.

A campaign rally will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Arrigoni's headquarters, 232 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Virginia Asks Disaster Help

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Gov. Linwood Holton has asked President Nixon to declare 38 Virginia counties and 16 towns struck by flooding disaster areas.

Holton Monday estimated damage from the flooding that started Thursday after heavy autumn rains at $19 million.

Six persons were known dead. A search was continued at the town of Emporia for Mayor George F. Lee, who was presumed dead after he was swept away by flood waters from the Meherrin river Saturday night.

Gear Taken

John Franklin Levine of San Francisco reported to San Rafael police that fishing gear worth $125 was stolen from his boat Saturday while it was docked at Marine Electric, 50 Bay Street, San Rafael.

Library Shows Venuto's Works

Venuto, who lives at 457 Redwood Highway, attended the cartoonists and illustrators school in New York and the San Francisco Art Institute.

Library hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

DEVELOPMENT PROPOSED — Foothills Oaks, as viewed here off North San Pedro Road looking up the ridge, will be one of several parcels in San Rafael discussed at Saturday's Town Meeting when the talk turns to open space. The 53-acre site is being considered by the city for acquisition under a $2.25 million bond issue approved last month. Plans for 292 units of townhouses and apartments have been proposed for the site.

San Rafael's Town Meeting Set Saturday At Dominican

San Rafael will follow in the footsteps of other cities throughout Marin on Saturday when citizens converge upon Dominican College for the city's long awaited town meeting.

Citizens will discuss open space bond money expenditures, examine plans for redevelopment of the downtown area, learn about merger with Terra Linda and debate the need for moderate income housing in San Rafael.

Citizens will find out how to get involved in the preparation of the city's new general plan as well as air complaints about roaming dogs, motorcycle noise, traffic congestion, chuck holes and drainage.

"The purpose of Saturday's town meeting is to discuss the problems affecting the general welfare of San Rafael residents and to aid in their solution, as well as to encourage citizen participation in local government and to provide a forum for the registration of public opinion," according to Steven B. Sachs, chairman of the San Rafael Town Meeting Association.

"Your ideas count in our town" is the theme of the town meeting, he said.

Registration for the meeting will begin at the college at 1520 Grand Avenue at 9 a.m. to be followed by a keynote speech by San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen. The group will then break up into five workshops aimed at examining matters of community concern.

Workshops and meeting sites are: community development, second floor of Guzman Hall, rooms 21, 25, 29 and 34; housing, first floor of Guzman Hall, room 12; open space, first floor of Bertrand Hall, rooms 2, 3, 4 and 5; recreation, first floor of Guzman Hall, rooms 13 and 14 and pet peeves, Bertrand Hall, room 1.

The workshop sessions, which begin at 10:30 a.m., will run for two hours, allowing citizens to roam from session to session.

The morning workshops will be followed by a bring-your-own picnic lunch at 12:30 p.m.

Workshop groups will reconvene at 1 p.m. to draft resolutions for presentation to the city council. Meeting sites are: community development, second floor lecture room of Guzman Hall; housing, first floor of Guzman Hall, room 12; open space, Bertrand Hall commons room and recreation, Angelica Hall auditorium.

At 2 p.m., the entire town meeting will meet in Angelica Hall auditorium to elect a board of directors for the town meeting association. The eleven-member board will select its own officers.

At 2:30 p.m., the group will adopt resolutions hammered out at afternoon workshop sessions. The town meeting ends at 4 p.m.

Sachs said he had no idea how many residents would attend the Town Meeting, but urged citizens to attend "whether for an hour or for the entire day."

"If you want to know what the law is on a matter, or who to go to with a problem, come to the town meeting," he said. City councilmen, planning commissioners, and city department heads will be in attendance.

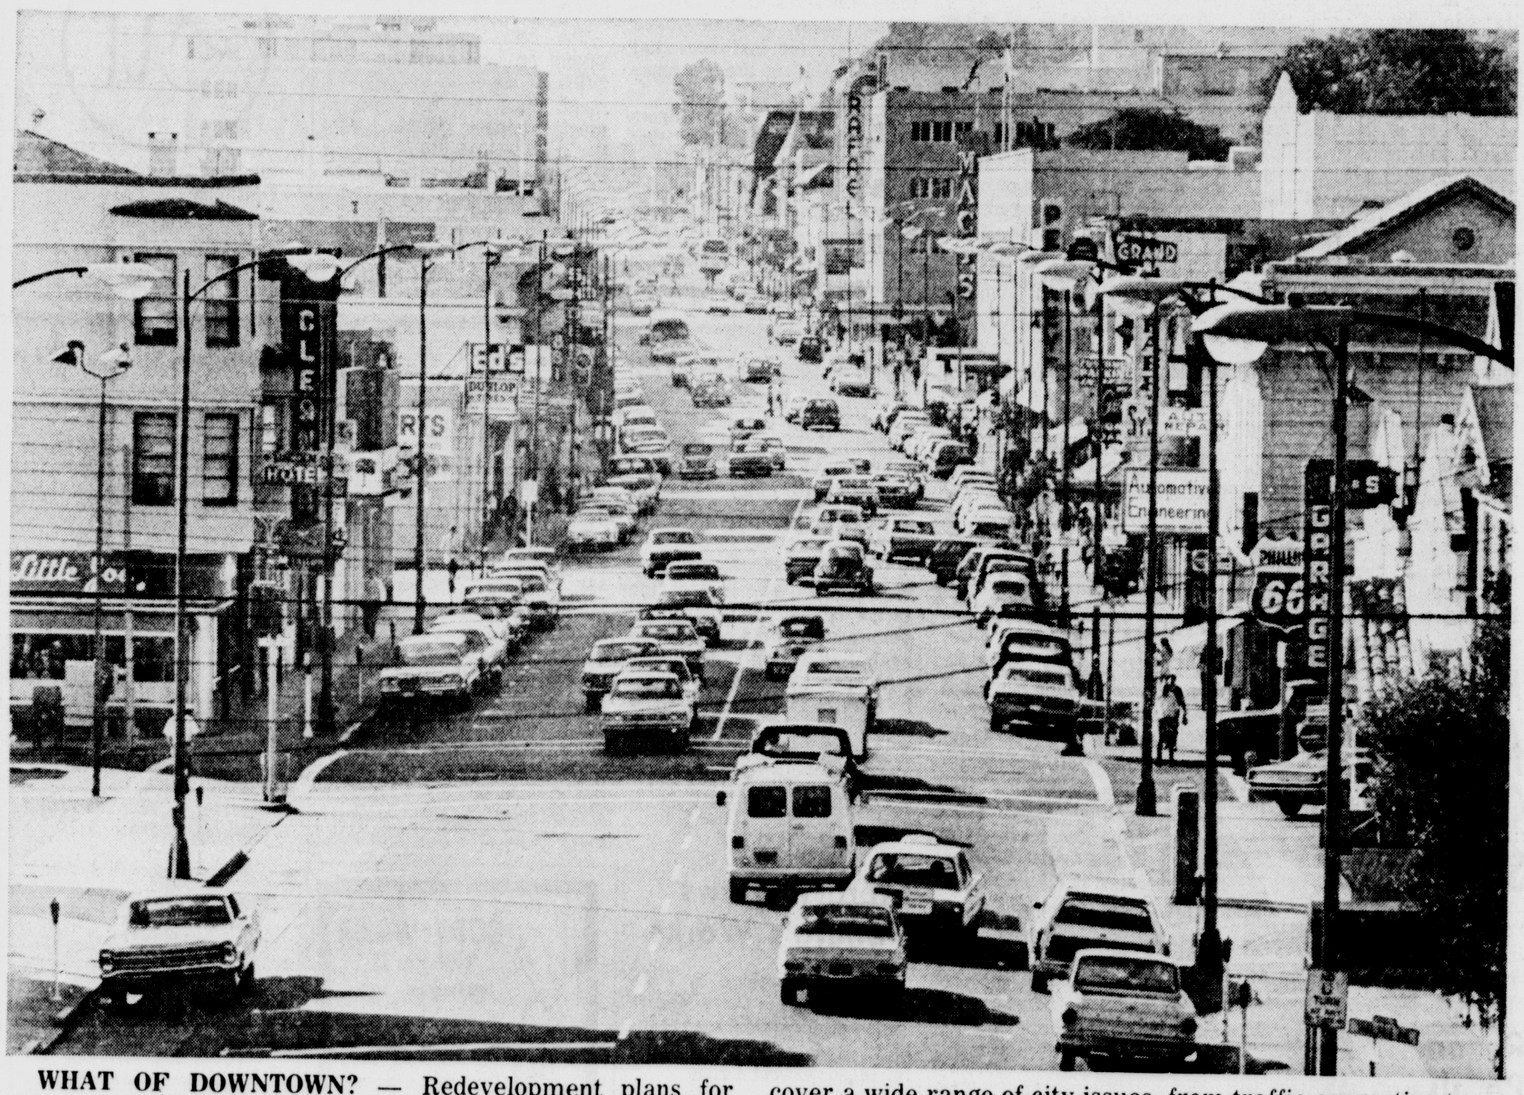
The event is the result of six months of preparation. Dozens of organizational meetings have been held. More than 150 San Rafael organizations have been notified. "We've even found PTA presidents who didn't know where city hall is," said Priscilla Bull, vice chairman.

Mrs. Bull said town meeting leaders will address high school government classes in San Rafael this week, and added flyers explaining the town meeting would be handed out at shopping centers. The group may even issue "Our Town" bumper stickers.

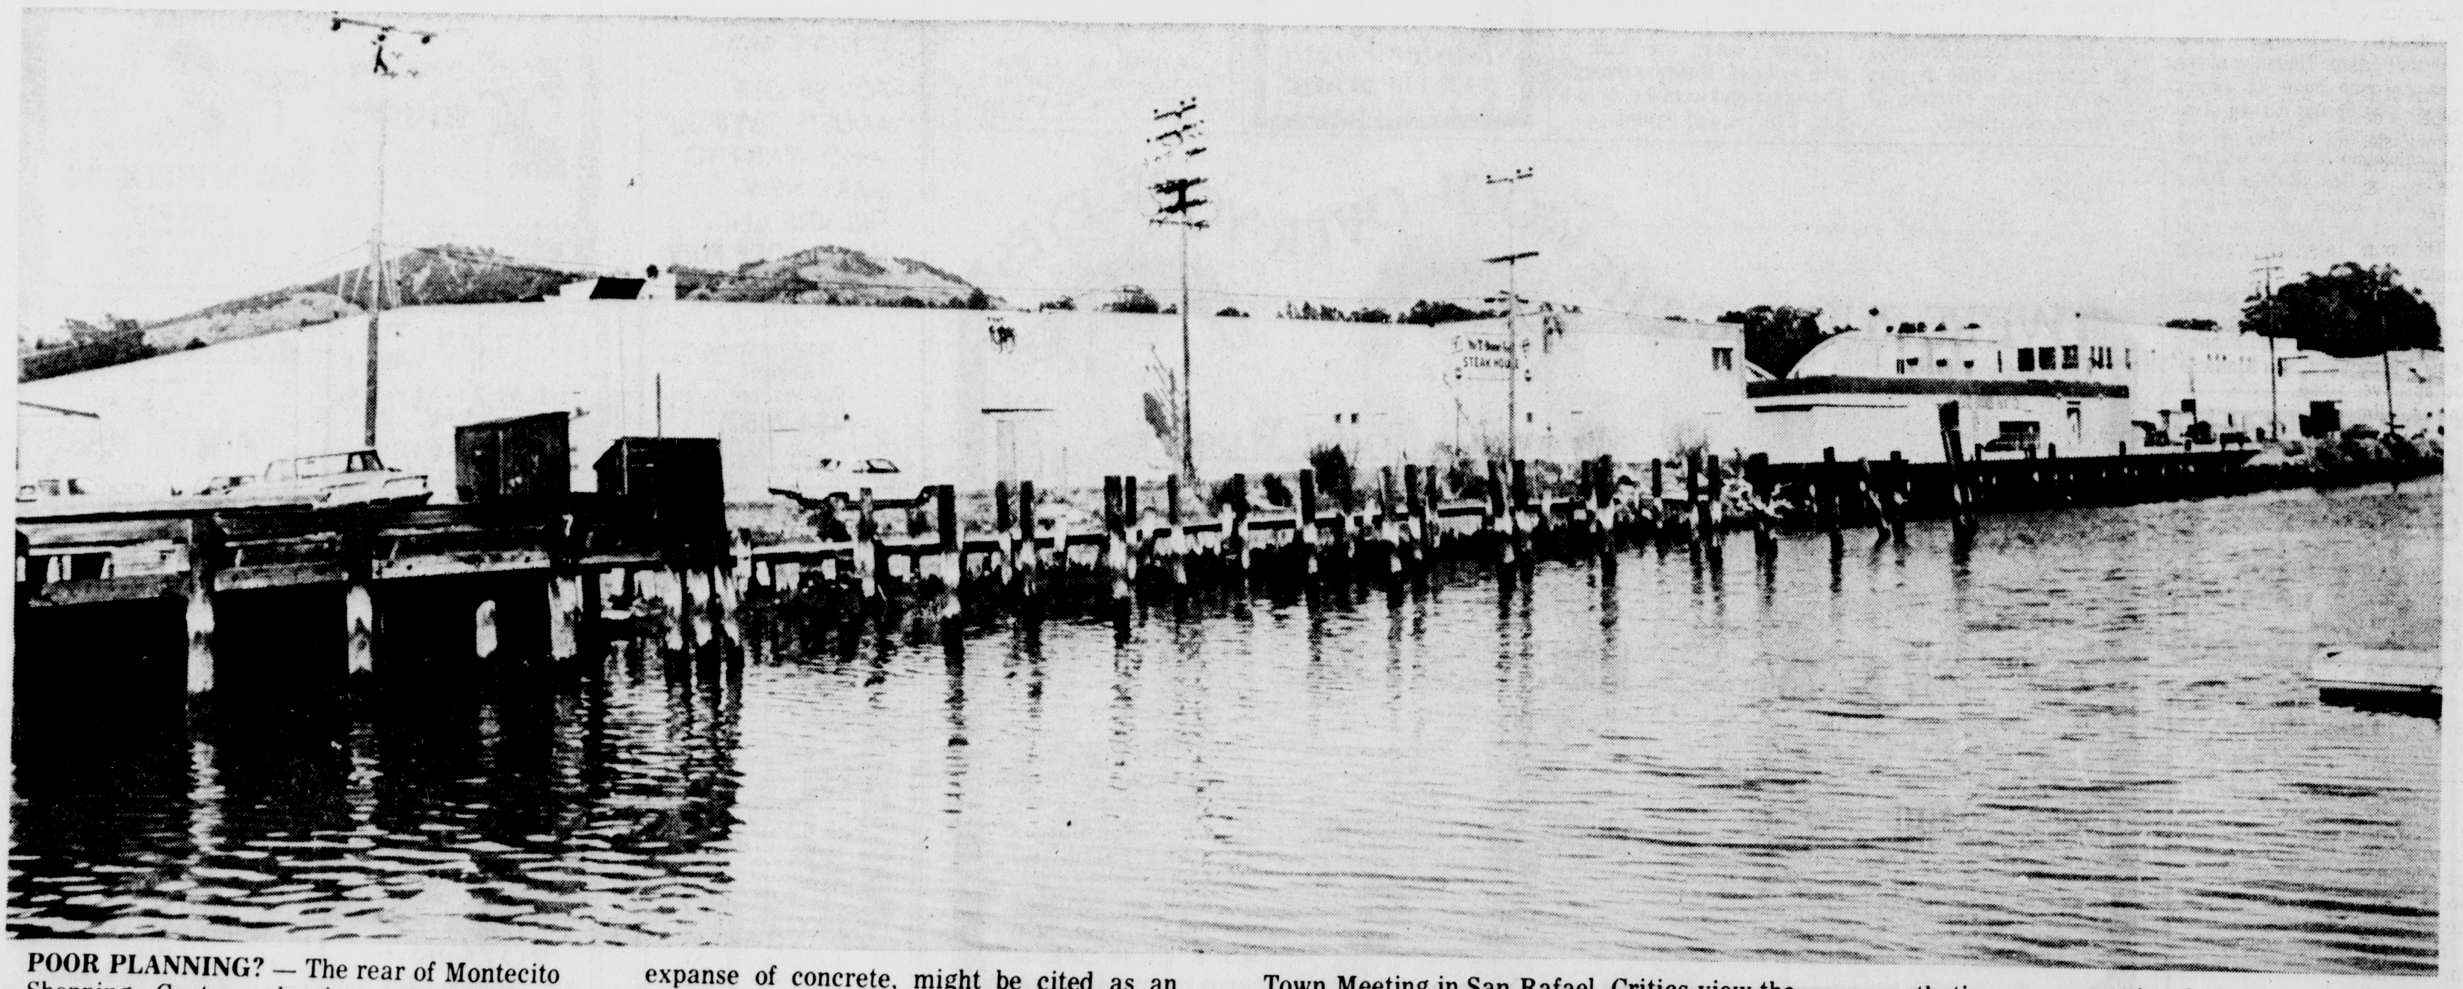
The association has received donations totalling $140, with expenses of about $500, she said. Donations may be sent to P.O. Box 1445, San Rafael, 94902.

Other current officers of the San Rafael Town Meeting Association are Susan Lifshiz, secretary and Dan Chestnut, treasurer. Committee chairmen are: open space, Tina Ferris; housing, Leland Bright; recreation, Scott Jones; community development, Richard Sadler and Frederick Dekker and publicity, Jeanne Wasp.

SIGN EXPLOSION — The proliferation of signs in San Rafael, such as these along a section of Francisco Boulevard, could well be a topic of discussion at the city's Town Meeting Saturday at Dominican College. The city, through a recently enacted ordinance, says it is cracking down on sign jungles such as this.



WHAT OF DOWNTOWN? — Redevelopment plans for downtown San Rafael will be examined at length at Saturday's Town Meeting. Discussions are expected to cover a wide range of city issues, from traffic congestion to roaming dogs. The theme of the meeting is, "Your ideas count in our town." (Independent-Journal photos by Alfred M. Arn)



POOR PLANNING? — The rear of Montecito Shopping Center, showing only a broad expanse of concrete, might be cited as an example of poor planning at Saturday's Town Meeting in San Rafael. Critics view the development as failing to incorporate the aesthetic or recreational features of the canal in its backyard.

HE FLED N.Y. SUBURBS

The Village Blacksmith

By JAY GOODWIN

Ram Fishman is a Jewish mother's nightmare.

He was born in the shadow of Ebbets Field, the home of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, and raised in Levittown, a town he now describes as a "shabby Long Island suburb of New York City."

His mother, he reports, hoped he'd become a dentist someday and, for awhile, it looked as if her dreams might come true. But after completing his studies at the University of Chicago and earning a philosophy degree from its prestigious Committee for the Analysis of Ideas and Study of Methods, Fishman turned his back on his middle-class childhood.

To the chagrin of his family, he repaced his given names, Howard Allan, with the Hindu name, Ram; married a Catholic woman in Chicago; moved west to Bolinas and became a blacksmith.

Today, at 25, with coal-stained hands and face, Ram Fishman is running a demonstration blacksmith shop at the Point Reyes National Seashore Headquarters in Olema. He appears delighted with his metamorphosis, but admits that the shock waves have not yet settled back in Levittown.

"Unfortunately, my mother hasn't broken the news to her friends in Hadassah. She was worried about me getting kicked or stepped on by a horse."

Fishman has worked both as a farrier, or horseshoer, and a blacksmith and he's quick to point out the difference. A horseshoer, as the name implies, shoes horses. A blacksmith makes horseshoes and other objects of wrought iron. Fishman is both.

"A good horseshoer is almost an artist," says Fishman, as he lists the three characteristics of a good farrier.

"First, you need a veterinarian's knowledge of a horse's foot. Then, you need an understanding of the metals you're working with. And, finally, you need to understand horse psychology."

Contrary to popular belief, says Fishman, horseshoeing is hardly a dying trade in Marin County. "In fact, there are too many horseshoers in this county —about two dozen."

But, with the boom in horse population in the past 10 years, there appears to be enough business for the area's farriers.

According to Fishman, a good farrier can shoe up to 10 horses a day at about $14 a horse.

He studied the trade at the horseshoeing school of Merced College — one of three schools turning out skilled horseshoers in California —turning to the career following an unsuccessful stab at more conventional employment.

"I went into an unemployment office and the clerk asked me what I had my degree in. I told her philosophy and she smiled and said, "That's good. We'll put you in our service category. I asked her what type of job that meant and she said 'janitorial work.' "

At about that time, his family had been hanging around horses frequently because his 6-year-old daughter, oldest of three daughters, is a "horse freak." His wife asked if he could shoe a horse and, needless to say, Ram Fishman answered "No." But he soon decided that the rural life of a horseshoer might be ideal.

"My main ambition is to support my family at a subsistence level; to raise as much food as possible and to work with my hands," he says.

As a blacksmith and a horseshoer, Fishman thinks he's found what he's looking for, but his career is not without its disadvantages.

"I wouldn't want to be a blacksmith full-time because of one occupational hazard: coal dust and coal smoke. When I was working full-time, I would cough and it used to come up black."

Since summer crowds have thinned out, Fishman has begun working only on weekends. He's hired by the Point Reyes-Muir Woods Historical Association, which hopes to add to the blacksmith shop the rest of an old-fashioned farm.

The steady flow of visitors to Fishman's demonstration blacksmith shop has slowed to a trickle. Now, he only works as a blacksmith on weekends. During the week, he's out in his pickup truck shoeing horses at ranches and stables throughout West Marin.

Like the blacksmiths of the early West, Fishman turns out more than just horseshoes when he's working at his demonstration shop. He also hammers the red hot iron into belt buckles, candle holders, household items and fireplace tools.

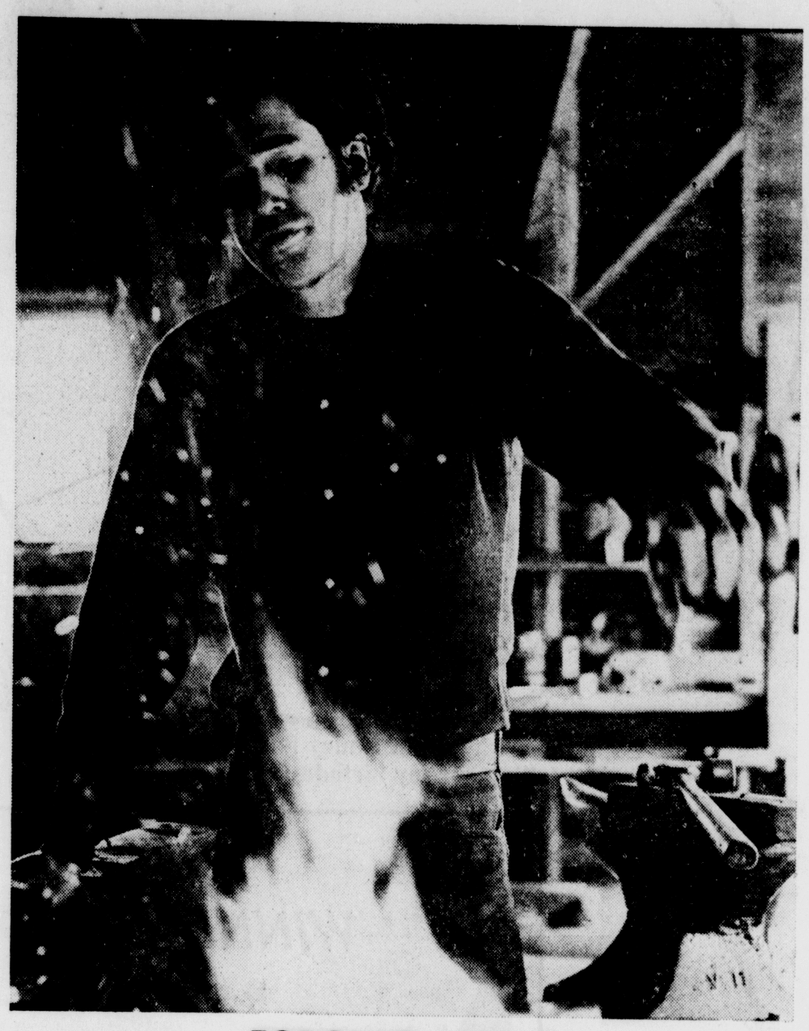
While his left hand cranks a hand-driven blower, his right hand manipulates a pair of long tongs in the forge. Then, with a slight twist, he's pounding the glowing iron on one or two anvils — all within a few feet of his visitors.

Said Fishman, "Now, I'd like to buy land north of here in Mendocino or Humboldt County and move my family. I guess I'm coming back to the working-class ethic."



FORGING AHEAD — Blacksmith Ram Fishman is a fugitive from middle-class suburbia, but no rejecter of the work ethic and providing for one's family. Here, he applies his skill in the model blacksmith shop at Point Reyes National Seashore, providing the public a glimpse of a kind of work once a familiar sight, but now seeming unusual though still essential.

Dead Bat Was Rabid, Report Says

A bat found hanging from a tree in Terra Linda last week has been found to have died of rabies, an official of the county health department said yesterday.

Nancy Ruggeri of the rabies control section said tests showed the bat was rabid, the first one found in the county since 1970.

She said the bat, found hanging on a tree branch in the backyard of the E. J. Gallagher residence at 314 Orange Blossom Lane, had been turned over to her department after Gallagher became suspicious.

She said apparently no animals or people had come in contact with the sick bat.

Miss Ruggeri, however, warned Marin residents not to touch bats found lying on the ground, flapping around, or otherwise looking sick.She said in such a circumstance one should put a bucket or box over the animal and call the Department of Health Services.

Girl's Action Leads To Car, Theft Suspect

The quick thinking and actions of a 15-year-old Novato girl resulted in the recovery of a stolen car and the arrest of a 26-year-old man on suspicion of car theft and carrying a concealed weapon, Novato police reported yesterday.

Kenneth Michael Giakovmis of 56 Hamilton Drive, was released from Marin County Jail on $1,250 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

The girl was at McDonald's restaurant on Highway 101, south of Grant Avenue, Novato, about 4:30 p.m., Sunday when she recognized a car which had been stolen from her neighbor on Sept. 12, police said. Giakovmis and two young girls were in it, they said.

The girl asked Giakovmis if the car was for sale and was told that it was, police reported. She said she had a friend who was interested in buying a 1966 blue Ford Mustang like that.

She called her neighbor, Michael F. Mahoney of 75 Terry Circle who came to the restaurant and identified his car. Mahoney, a San Francisco police officer, arrested Giakovmis and called Novato police. Police reported that Giakovmis had a loaded .22-caliber revolver covered on the front seat.

His two juvenile companions were not held, police reported.

Public Hearing Set On Proposed Plan

The Novato Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed master plan of the city at 8 p.m., Thursday at the Novato Community House, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

Copies of the plan are available at the planning department at the Novato City Hall, he said.

Coordinator Of Marin Youth Panel Chosen

A 26-year-old Marinwood attorney has been selected as the county's youth coordinator charged with handling the affairs of the Marin County Youth Commission.

Douglas H. Bosco of 60 Roundtree Boulevard was named to the position Friday after topping a list of about 200 applicants. He was the choice of the youth commission.

The youth coordinator position has been vacant since July when the county board of supervisors removed it from the probation department and placed it under the human rights department. It was previously held by L. Charles Smith, now a probation supervisor.

Bosco was named to the $914-per-month position by Gerald J. Hood, executive director of the human rights department.

The attorney is a graduate of Willamette University and Willamette College of Law in Salem, Ore. He was admitted to the California Bar earlier this year.

While in high school, he worked as a page in Congress and later was a campaign assistant to California Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-10th District.

He is a cofounder of American Educational Systems, Inc., which develops, produces and distributes educational cassette tapes.

Novato Dancers Out Of World Competition

Scott Fetterly and Karen Keller of Novato were eliminated in the semifinals of the world ballroom dancing competition in Sydney, Australia.

Scott, 19, and Karen, 18, representing the western United States in the "dance Olympics," were the youngest among 45 couples from 1 countries, they reported to Scott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Fetterly of 1455 Cambridge Avenue.

Teams from England captured first and second places in the competition; Germany, third; Denmark, fourth, and Australia, fifth and sixth.

The young dancers found Australia very hospitable and made friends from all over the world, they reported from Sydney. They invited the Canadian contestants to be their guests at the Fetterly home en route back to Canada.

Scott and Karen have won more than 50 trophies in five years of ballroom dancing competition. "This will be the first time they come home empty-handed from a competition," the senior Fetterly said.

Three Petalumans Injured In Crash

Three Petaluma youths were injured in a three-car accident at 11:30 a.m. yesterday on Petaluma Boulevard South near Mountain View Avenue.

Alan R. Sant, 18, of 1716 Orinda Court, was reported in serious condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with head injuries. Teresa McKerman, 17, of 1621 Weaverly Drive, was reported in fair condition with cuts of the head, arms and legs. Samuel Sample, 21, of 1524 Joan Drive was treated for facial cuts.

Police said they were passengers in a car driven by John D. Sullivan, 20, of 12-B Webster Street, Petaluma. His car collided with cars driven by Virgil P. Morgan, 47, of 412 Donner Avenue, Petaluma, and Mikel J. Wheatley, 1279 San Rafael Drive, Petaluma.

Petaluman Reports Theft Of His Auto

Rodney E. Zimmerman, 16 Fairview Terrace, Petaluma, told police today that his 1969 blue Maverick was stolen from his home. He said the keys were left in the ignition.

Police said a car reported stolen in the state of Washington was recovered at nearby McNear Park last night and that the person who abandoned it, eluded police and may have stolen Zimmerman's car.

Ordinance Due Review Tonight

The San Anselmo City Council will take its second look at an interim urgency ordinance which ould ban development in the city when it meets at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Some councilmen have said that the urgency measure — which would prohibit any use or rezoning which may conflict with future general plan revisions — is too strict.

The council will also discuss the second phase of the balanced transportation report and a proposal for a consolidated countywide police department.

Dishwasher Is Stolen

Manson Off Death Row, Moved To Folsom Prison

San Quentin officials confirmed today that Charles Manson, convicted murderer in the 1969 Tate-Labianca slayings, has been moved to Folsom Prison from San Quentin.

Manson, 38, was moved to the Sacramento County prison adjustment center Friday in a "routine transfer," said Joseph R. O'Brien, San Quentin information officer.

He is being held in a maximum security facilty, described as "a place for people who need protection from other inmates."

"We don't know how the inmate body is going to accept him, so we have to be cautious — and we are," said John Ahern, Folsom administrative officer.

Another member of Manson's cult, Charles (Tex) Watson, was moved earlier from Death Row to the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo. O'Brien said it was common prison practice to "separate crime partners."

Rezoning Tops Petaluma Agenda

The Petaluma City Council will hear an appeal to rezone four lots on East Washington Street at its meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Ernest Curtis will appeal the Sept. 19 denial by the planning commission on his request for commercial zoning at 817, 821, 825 and 829 East Washington Street.

The council also will consider making appointments to the 17-member development allotment committee. The group will study building applications and will recommend which should be approved under the 500 living unit limit.

Anti-Coastline Group Ripped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — the group sponsoring the coastline protection initiative on the Nov. 7 ballot challenges even the very name of its opposition.

Members of the California Coastal Alliance say of the 45 contributors listed in the state's campaign spending report last week, only 11 are not listed as corporations.

Let Fidelity Savings do the work for you. While you put your feet up and save your soles. And all the time you could be earning 25% more interest than most commercial bank savings accounts pay. Here's how Fidelity's new savings plan works. While you don't.

Now, Fidelity Savings can transfer whatever amount you say—automatically—from your bank checking account into a 5% current annual interest Fidelity Savings account. Simply stop in one of our 28 branch office locations in Northern California. Obviously, the one that's most convenient for you.

All you'll have to do is sign two short, uncomplicated forms. One gives us the say-so to withdraw the amount you've specified from your bank checking account, and the second form tells your bank we have your approval. And don't worry. It has all been set up so that your bank will co-operate. Automatically.

When you stop in, please bring along two of your pre-printed checking account deposit slips. That's so we can get the exact account and bank numbers. After that? You do nothing. We do everything. With one short visit to a Fidelity office, you've set the whole, simple, convenient, computerized system into action.

From then on, we'll notify you—again, automatically—of just how much you have in your Fidelity Savings account, and how much interest you're earning. We even give you a little sticky thing to paste in your own checkbook with the date we make the transfer. So you won't forget to indicate the amount in your balance.

Most banks, as you know, pay a flat 4% on savings accounts. At Fidelity, our current annual rate is 5%. A neat 1% that could be working for you. Instead of your bank. Doesn't that speak for itself?

Fidelity Savings. The first in Marin County to offer this new convenience. Sooner or later, some of the other savings and loans in this area may be able to offer the Transmatic System. But it's us sooner, them later.

Only Fidelity Savings can do it right now. Why wait? Let us do all the work for you. While you put your feet up. After that, forget it. We'll remember.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Correct Spade Play Depends On Location Of King Of Clubs

What is the correct way to play the trump suit in today's hand, assuming that you cannot see the hands of the defenders? Strangely enough, the correct spade play depends on the location of the king of clubs. This seems nonsensical, like saying that business conditions depend on spots on the sun, but there are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamed of by most bridge players.

LEAD QUEEN

The correct play is to trump the first heart and lead the queen of clubs for a finesse. When the finesse succeeds, you know that you have no losing clubs.

You can now afford to lose one trump trick. The best play is to lead out the ace of trumps!

If the king of spades is not dropped, you would lead a club to dummy's ace and return a small trump. You would lose only one trump if each opponent had two trumps or if East had three trumps headed by the king. You would be in trouble if East had all four trumps or if West had three or more trumps headed by the king; but in those cases you would be defeated no matter what you did.

AVOID LOSS

The advantage of leading out the ace of trumps is that you avoid the loss of two trump tricks if West has the singleton king of trumps.

Does this mean that you never take a normal trump finesse at a slam contract? Not at all. You would be forced to do so if you happened to lose the club finesse at the second trick.

In that case you would need the rest of the tricks. Your only chance would be to take the normal trump finesse in the hope that East held exactly two trumps, including the king.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Using standard methods, bid one heart.

If partner bids two clubs or two diamonds you will have to bid two no trump, a slight overbid.

Kent Woodlands Man Denies Club Ties

Milton Mohr of Kent Woodlands has reported that he has had no connection since last Dec. 1 with the Mocambo nightclub in San Francisco.

He was listed last year as president of West-Ent Inc. which owns the nightclub whose latest difficulty with the law was reported by the Independent-Journal last Thursday: a municipal court conviction of four women soliciting drinks in the establishment.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Dear S: You need to address it to the film studio where the star is currently under contract. It's easy if the entertainer has a current television conlract, because you can send it to the network — NBC, CBS, or ABC — to be forwarded. But if your star is retired or no longer under contract, you'll need to find his current home address or that of his agent.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. HELEN HAYES, often called "The First Lady of the American Stage," is 73 today. Born in Washington, D.C., this talented actress made her debut at the age of five playing a boy prince. It foretold her later success in stage, screen, radio, and television and particularly ability to do royalty, such as her 1936 "Victoria Regina," which broke box-office records for that time. When not working (she was on television last year), Miss Hayes lives at her farm home in Nyack, N.Y. Guess whether she is known there as Mrs. Charles MacArthur — Yes or No?

2. JOHNNY GREEN, an academy award winner many times for his music, was born 64 years ago in New York City. This composer and conductor penned such well known favorites as "Body and Soul" and "I Cover the Waterfront." He began his career in 1927, arranging music for a dance band. Guess whether it was for — Paul Whiteman, Guy Lombardo or Ambrose?

3. LIN YUTANG, a Chinese author and philosopher whose books became popular in America over 35 years ago, was born Oct. 10, 1895, in Changchow, Fukien Province, China. Living and teaching in the Far East, can you guess whether he wrote — "Wisdom of Confucius," "The Way of Zen," or "The Good Earth"?

ANSWERS

1. Yes; 2. Guy Lombardo; 3. "Wisdom of Confucius"

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?

Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

LEGAL NOTICE
JOINT PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the San Rafael City Council and the San Rafael Redevelopment Agency will hold a joint public hearing on Thursday, October 26, 1972, at the Council Chambers, City Hall, San Rafael, California; said hearing shall commence at 8:00 p.m. o'clock and may be continued from time to time until completed. Any person or organization desiring to be heard will be afforded an opportunity to do so.

The purpose of said hearing is to consider the proposed Central San Rafael Redevelopment Plan, hereinafter called "Plan". The Plan also known as a "redevelopment plan" authorizes the undertaking of a redevelopment project pursuant to the California Community Redevelopment Law.

The general objective of said proposed plan is the strengthening of the financial, commercial and cultural role of central San Rafael. The scope of said project includes the acquisition of land, demolition or removal of buildings and certain improvements, installation, construction and reconstruction of streets, utilities, parks or other project improvements and making land available for redevelopment by private enterprise or public agencies as authorized by law. Said proposed project will be an undertaking of the San Rafael Redevelopment Agency.

The Central San Rafael Redevelopment Project Area is situated in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, and is more particularly described as follows:

Cosmos Scanner Slated For 1977

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administraation (NASA) is working on a satellite instrument pack to scan the cosmos for clues to the origin of stars.

The instrument is meant to be launched in 1977 as part of the Hig Energy Astronomy Observatory. Designed to monitor and analyze gamma ray lines, it could provide keys to analyzing the nuclear and chemical processes by which stars are born, live and die, according to scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of California Institute of Technology here.

McGovern Reports Truman 'Not Well'

INDEPENDE4NCE, Mo (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern, who was in former President Harry S Truman's home town during the weekend, said Truman is "not well" and "he's unable to receive any visitors."

McGovern said he called on the Trumans at their Independence homestead Saturday and talked only with the former President's wife Bess.

Water Reclamation Due Army Hearing Tomorrow

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A water reclamation project that could turn vast areas in West Marin and Sonoma into sewage spray fields is expected to be subject to criticism by environmental groups at an Army Corps of Engineers hearing tomorrow.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in corps offices at 100 McAllister Street.

The project, studied by the corps for possible use in the 12 Bay Area and Delta counties, would preserve 255,000 acres as open land to absorb a projected wastewater flow of 1.5 billion gallons a day by the year 2000.

The corps has put the price tag at up to $5.3 billion.

Car Strikes Pole, Driver Is Injured

John Gentry, 47, of 57 Millside Lane, Mill Valley, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries suffered in an accident at 9:10 p.m. Friday in front of 77 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Labor Asks Meany To End Neutrality

The Marin County Labor Council has appealed to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, to abandon his neutrality in this year's presidential election and to endorse the McGovern-Shriver ticket.

Council delegates urged Meany to convene a special session of the AFL-CIO executive council to make the endorsement while "there may still be time to avoid four more years of disaster."

The council, meeting last week, joined a growing number of local labor groups throughout the nation critical of Meany's policy of neutrality in the election.

Its letter to Meany cited "Nixon and Reagan along with other political creeps opposing the grape boycott."

"Nor will we forget that during his term of office Richard M. Nixon, by deliberate policy, has doubled unemployment, increased prices, raised the tax burden of the working people, lowered the tax burden of the rich and corporations, and lowered the legitimately negotiated wage increases of organized labor," the letter said.

"By his use of the veto, Nixon has destroyed nearly every piece of social legislation passed by congress, not to mention the Supreme Court appointments," the council said.

The council's statement to Meany said McGovern "has taken progressive and positive positions on issues of special concern to all working people. We cannot understand how anyone can be neutral in 1972; neutrality will aid the Nixon campaign."

Session Delayed

Marinwood Community Service District directors have postponed their scheduled hearing on a proposed $600,000 open space bond election, from Thursday to 8 p.m. Oct. 26 in the Marinwood Community Center.

A's Win Away From 1st World Series In 40 Years

DETROIT (UPI)—The Oakland A's, trying to get into the World Series for the first time in 40 years, ought the knockout blow against the Detroit Tigers today in the third game of the American League baseball playoffs in an atmosphere charged with explosiveness after the "Campaneris incident."

Southpaw Ken Holtzman of the A's and righthander Joe Coleman of the Tigers, both 19-game winners during the regular season, were the oppositing pitchers in the 12:30 p.m. EST clash before an expected 54,000 fans at Tiger Stadium.

The A's, who swept the opening two games in Oakland during the wekend, needed only to win this game —or any one of a possible three games here —to reach the series for the first time since 1932 when they were Connie Mack's A's and they lived in Philadelphia, Pa. But to do it they'll have to overcome a Tiger team which manager Billy Martin claims is finally "a little mad."

The fans and the Tigers won't get a chance to vent their wrath directly on the chief source, however —little Bert Campaneris, the A's sparkplug shortstop whose bat-tossing at Tiger pitcher Lerrin La Grow made headlines Sunday. Campaneris has been suspended by A.L. President Joe Cronin for the remainder of the playoffs and has gone home to California.

The Tigers also were going with a substitute shortstop — Dick McAuliffe —for the second straight game. It was disclosed today that regular shortstop Eddie Brinkman is suffering from a ruptured spinal disc and will undergo an operation Friday.

"Brinkman is expected to return for spring training next season," a Tiger spokesman said.

With Brinkman out, McAuliffe moves from second to short, as he did Sunday, and Tony Taylor goes in at second base.

The Tigers, with their backs to the wall, were given a slight edge in the third game pitching on the record. Coleman had a 21 record against the Athletics during the regular season, while Holtzman was only 1-3 against Detroit.

"We've beaten Holtzman every time we've seen him," proclaimed Martin enthusiastically but somewhat inaccurately. "If we win today, we'll be in good position with Mickey Lolich ready for Wednesday and Woody Fryman Thursday."

Campaneris' three-day suspension, plus a $500 fine were exactly what Martin demanded, even though it surprised some baseball people by its severity.

Williams said it didn't really make any difference, anyway, because his ankle injury from being hit by La Grow's pitch would have kept him out the rest of the week.

Cronin did not levy any punishment against La Grow, who was ejected from the game according to plate umpire Nestor Chylak "to even things out so the game could continue," or against Martin, who had to be restrained by three umpires when he charged onto the field in an admitted attempt to "go after" Campaneris.

Cronin's move in barring Campaneris was viewed by some as an attempt to prevent any disorder by Detroit fans, something akin to the same idea Chylak had in ejecting La Grow.

With three hits, two stolen bases, and two runs scored, Campaneris definitely sparked the 5-0 victory Sunday that put Oakland in the driver's seat in these playoffs. But both Williams and Martin played down the importance of his loss.

Awards Banquet For Marin Aquatic Club

They came parading up to the head table to accept their trophies, a few of them barely larger than the trophies they clutched with eager fingers or cradled in loving arms.

They ranged in age from 7 to 17 and most of them wore embarrassed smiles. Perhaps they would have felt more comfortable in a swimming pool setting age group records. That is what these kids were doing most of the time.

WATCHING THE youngsters of the Marin Aquatic Club pick up their awards and smile through the applause of the moms and dads, a person had to see all the good things that have come from the age group program established by Marin County's own Beth Kaufman so many years ago.

There were two Olympic swimmers in the room getting awards, but there were also kids who would never be closer than a television set to the Olympics who were also winning awards. Many of the youngsters in the banquet room of the Elks Club Saturday night weren't winning awards but they have fun on weekends competing in the age group swimming meets. You do not have to be the best athlete in the world to swim and that's why the meets scattered throughout Marin County and the rest of the Bay Area draw thousands and thousands of kids.

Steve Clark, winner of three gold medals in relay events at the 1964 Olympics when Don Schollander was stealing all the headlines, was the guest speaker and he talked about competing, not winning.

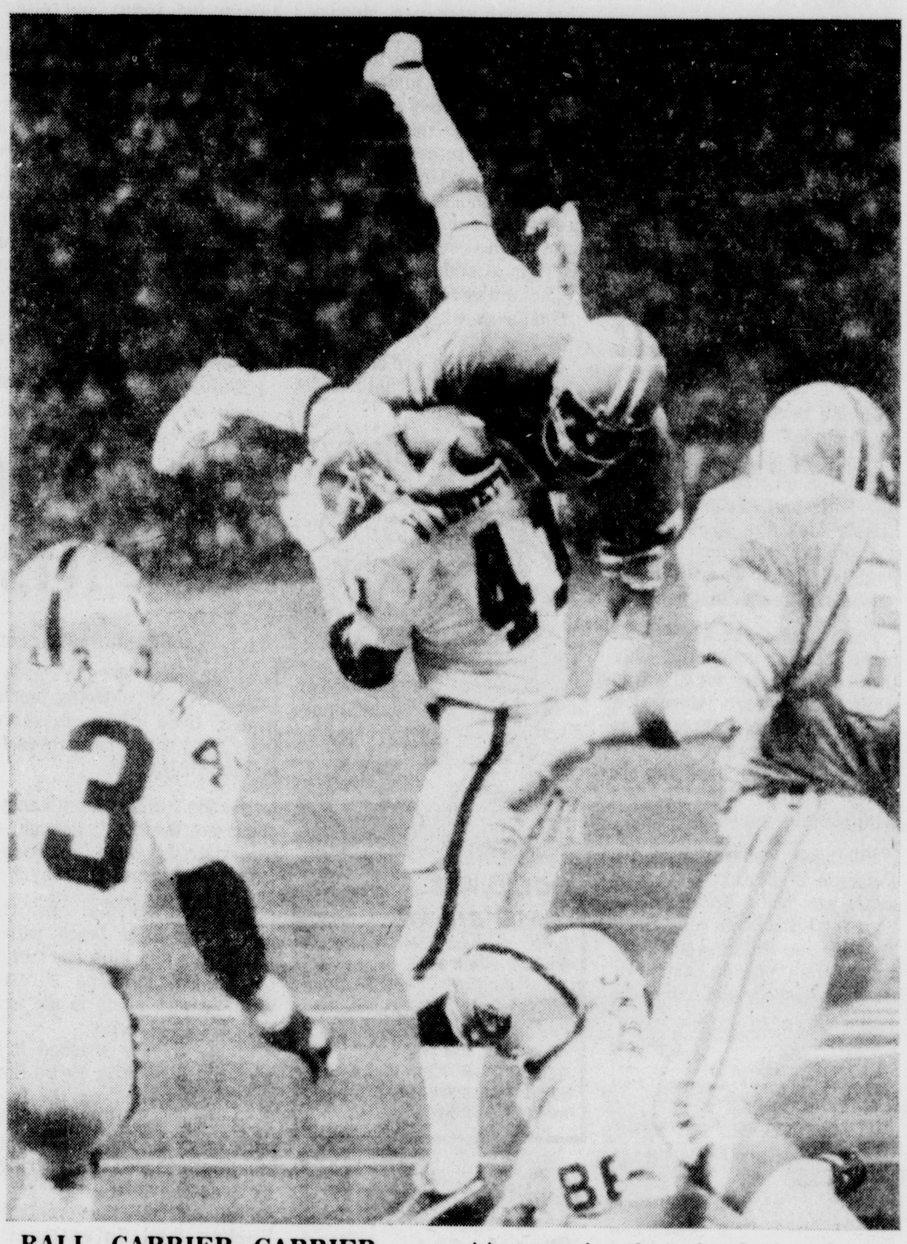
"SO MUCH EMPHASIS is placed on winning first place," said Clark. "Swimming is learning sportmanship; losing is part of everyday life. You, as parents, don't have to ask the youngster, 'Did you win?' Rather you should ask, 'How did you do?'"

As case in point, Clark said he ran in the Dipsea race from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach this year and finished the race. He was proud and called his mother to tell her about it. "She asked me how I did and I told her I did great. I finished 661st." He had done his best. He felt good.

The 29-year-old Clark, who just that day had clocked 50.4 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle, announced that he had switched after 16 years with the Santa Clara Swim Club to the Marin Aquatic Club Masters program for adult competitive swimming. He will be joining the likes of record breakers Jane McCollister and Dore Schwab on the Marin A.C. Masters team.

When Rick DeMont was presented a special "Sportsmanship" award for the way he handled himself after the International Olympic Committee stripped him of his gold medal, he was given a standing ovation. The club also welcomed new member Robin Backhaus, Olympic bronze medal winner in the 200-meter butterfly.

A FOOTBALL BORE is the best way to describe last night's television game in which the Oakland Raiders dumped an outclassed Houston team, 34-0. But no amount of words can better describe the game than did one gesture by a Houston fan after a television camera zoomed in for a closeup late in the game. That one particular finger he held up sure didn't mean that the Oilers were Number One. That's one way to turn Howard Cosell speechless.



BALL CARRIER CARRIER — Phil Villapiano (41) of the Oakland Raiders made sure Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini wouldn't go anywhere by hoisting him up in the air during last night's National Football League game in Houston's Astrodome. Pastorini lost a yard and the Oilers lost the game, 34-0.

Coach Embarrassed After Oilers' Loss

HOUSTON (UPI)—Defensive tackle Art Thoms of Oakland was elated. Coach Bill Peterson of Houston was embarrassed. Quarterback Dan Pastorini of Houston was frustrated and quarterback Daryle Lamonica of Oakland had a "ho-hum" attitude.

The Oakland Raiders defeated the Houston Oilers 34-0 on the Monday night nationally televised game which was so bad that three fourths of the standing-room-only crowd of 51,378 in the Astrodome walked out midway through the fourth quarter.

Lamonica, who said he played a so-so game, was the offensive star for the Raiders, throwing two touchdown passes and completing 12 of 26 for 166 yards. He hit Fred Biletnikoff on a 16-yard scoring pass and rookie Mike Siani on a 26-yarder.

Clarence Davis scored a third touchdown on a 14-yard run and reserve quarterback Ken Stabler passed one yard to tight end Bob Moore for the final touchdown. Both of the last two scores were set up by interceptions.

Thoms, a 6-5, 260-pound four-year veteran from Syracuse, was the defensive star. He blocked both of Houston's field goal attempts, intercepted a pass and deflected a pass that Otto Sistrunk, the other defensive tackle, intercepted on the 14, to set up Davis' touchdown.

The Oilers offense was so inept that it couldn't score from the Oakland 2 after Ward Walsh blocked a Jerry Depoyster punt in the second quarter. Pastorini tried right end on the first play, but was thrown back to the three by linebacker Phil Villapiano, and on the next play, a blitzing Gus Otto nailed Pastorini on the 17.

On fourth down, Thoms blocked a 24-yard field goal attempt by Skip Butler. It was easy, Thoms said later.

"The guard opposite me was firing out, which he wasn't supposed to do," Thoms said, referring to rookie Solomon Freelon. "He was almost stepping out a little bit. I couldn't believe it. I just sliced through. It was easier the second time

Pirate Pitcher Ellis Can Clinch World Series Berth

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Dock Ellis, strictly a beer man, has the opportunity to pop the champagne for the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

Up two games to one, the Pirates need only one more playoff victory over the Cincinnati Reds and its all over.

"I'm fine, I'm ready," says Ellis, who won 15 for the Pirates this year. "I'll go out there and do my best, that's all you can do."

The Pirates came from behind to beat the Reds, 3-2, in Monday's pivotal third game and Manny Sanguillen, Pittsburgh's good-natured, goodhumored receiver, was the key figure.

He not only put the Pirates on the board with their first run when he led off the fifth inning with a home run off Cincinnati starter Gary Nolan but he also supplied the winning run off loser Clay Carroll in the eighth with an energetic piece of baserunning that spread gloom among the standing room only crowd of 52,420 in Riverfront Stadium.

With one out and the bases loaded in the eighth inning, Sanguillen hit a shot to Reds' shortstop Darrel Chaney who tossed to second baseman Joe Morgan to force Rennie Stennett. The speedy Sanguillen,

Rozelle Gets TV Blackout Deadline

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Rep. William Randall, D-Mo., said Monday the chairman of a Senate subcommittee has given Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, one week to lift the local television blackout of football games.

Randall said, "If he doesn't at least conduct a test in one city, the Senate will act to end the blackout. The senators can tack this thing onto the basketball merger bill and it will zip through."

Randall said he is sure Rozelle will lift the blackout in one city for test purposes.

"I have sent him a telegram, asking the test to be conducted in Kansas City," Randall said. "I believe we have average citizens in Mid-America, and the test would show that televising the games here will demonstrate that no one will lose any money."

Randall has introduced a bill in the House which would lift the blackout if all seats are sold out 48 hours prior to the contest. A similar bill has been introduced in the Senate.

BEFORE OPENER

Warriors Trim Turner, Jones

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Veterans Bill Turner and Nick Jones were among the final four players cut by the Golden State Warriors as they prepared for Saturday's league opener at Vilwaukee.

Also given the axe were second-year man Odis Allison and guard Milt Williams, obtained in a trade from New York.

George Johnson, a 7-foot pivot man from Dillard, impressed the Warriors with his defense and will back up Nate Thurmond. Charlie Johnson, the six-foot long-range gunner from California, was not expected to make the squad but was too outstanding in exhibition play to cut.

Turner, the 6-7, five-year veteran from Portland, was the last man let go.

"I thought in my mind, that I played well enough to make it," he said. "But I guess I wasn't in the right place at the right time. Anyway, there's no bitterness."

The Warriors kept only 11 players, one below the limit. But with a starting lineup that's going to cost him almost $800,000, owner Franklin Mieuli apparently was in a budget mood.

Phoenix Waives Guard Wetzel

PHOENIX (UPI) — Guard John Wetzel was placed on waivers Monday as the Phoenix Suns met the midnight deadline for cutting their squad to 12 players.

Wetzel, 6-foot-5 performer with three years in the National Basketball Association, underwent an operation for an achilles injury late last season and never recovered. He was acquired from Los Angeles in the expansion draft when the Suns joined the league in 1968.

Wetzel averaged 3.5 points in 159 appearances with the Suns.

Drake-Novato Game Switched To 1:30

Drake High School's football game with Novato High, originally scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday, has been moved to 1:30 p.m., Drake athletic director Carl (Red) Brown announced today. The site, Tamalpais High in Mill Valley, remains unchanged.

"Some of the Novato players are taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test that morning (in an effort to qualify for certain college scholarships), and the test doesn't end until 12:30, so Novato asked us to change the game time," Brown said.

McKay Blasts Away At Stanford Team

STANFORD (UPI) — Coach and athletic director John McKay of USC is still blasting away at past alleged slights by Stanford, but Card coach Jack Christiansen is refusing comment in replay—or is he?

"When some one hates you that bad, there isn't much you can do about it," Christiansen commented Monday. But then added that "it's too bad when you have to start hating other people in preparing for an athletic event and trying to teach your football players hate. I don't believe that's any way to do."

Christiansen also said that a look at game films showed him the motion penalty that wiped out a long pass to Eric Cross down to the USC 5-yard-line was "a good call."

Since moments later a center over the punter's head put the Trojans on the Stanford 5-yard line, it was a key play in Troy's 30-21 win.

Coach Mike White, in an unusual move, assembled his club Sunday to review scouting reports so he could start right off with drills Monday. Rain abated so the Bears could take the field.

The Bears were downed 35-18 Saturday by Ohio State to give them a 1-4 record. The Trojans ran up their fifth win without a defeat by subduing Stanford 30-21.

Cal coaches nominated Randy Schmidt, a tight end, and Loren Toews, a linebacker, as the players of the week.

Lakers' Center Wilt Ends Holdout, Begins Practice

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LOS ANGELES — Four weeks after the Los Angeles Lakers began basketball practice, Wilt Chamberlain was back in uniform with the National Basketball Association champions and says he's ready for the season opener Wednesday night.

The famed 7-foot-2 center ended his holdout Monday after a lengthy conference with Laker owner Jack Kent Cooke and the pair issued a joint statement saying "all contractual difficulties have been resolved."

The announcement did not disclose terms of the settlement. The 36-year-old Chamberlain, a former San Francisco Warrior reportedly had been receiving around $300,000 a year on a two-year contract signed in August, 1971. He was said to have asked for a raise after the Lakers won the championship.

THE OWNER — Nancy Witt, 25, stood on the sidelines wearing a jersey and chatting with a player on her football team, the minor-league Lakewood, Colo., Oilers, which she bought for $5,000. She also holds the ball during placekick attempts, which are numerous, since the team has a 7-0 record.

CLEVELAND — Lenny Wilkens, the former Seattle Supersonics coach and guard obtained by the Cleveland Cavaliers, was suspended by the team Monday night for refusing to report.

Wilkens has maintained his determination not to play for the Cavaliers since the announcement Aug. 23 that the clubs had made a deal.

LAKEWOOD, Colo. — Nancy Witt has found a way for a gal to play football. You buy the team.

The 5-foot-4, 135-pound woman paid $5,000 to buy the Lakewood Oilers of the Mid-American semi-pro League and promptly installed herself as the holder for place kicks.

"After I held for my first extra point in a game, I'd say there were only about 10 per cent against me. Then, after I got hit the first time, I think they were all with me."

The first "hit" came in a game against Oklahoma City. A 270-pound defensive tackle got an early jump and gave her a real taste of what football was all about.

Hockey

PHILADELPHIA — A federal judge who thinks that hockey, unlike baseball, should be subject to anti-trust laws was scheduled to resume hearings here today on a series of cases involving contract disputes between the National Hockey League and the World Hockey Association.

U.S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham said Monday that he was "going to rule that hockey was not immune" from federal anti-trust laws. He made the comment during arguments by an attorney who represents John McKenzie, the Boston Bruins star who signed a $300,000 player-coach contract with Philadelphia Blazers of the new World Hockey Association.

All major legal actions involving the NHL and the WHA have been consolidated before Higginbotham.

HOUSTON — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier was offered $800,000 Monday to defend his title against George Foreman, the second ranked contender, in the Astrodome in November or December.

Jack O'Connell, president of Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., said Frazier would receive 40 per cent of the fight's total receipts if they were more than $800,000. O'Connell said Foreman had already come to terms.

The second time was in the third quarter on a 42-yard attempt that was the Oilers' last scoring opportunity. The Houston defense, which played well, had given the Oilers offense three chances to score in the first half by blocking and recovering two fumbles in Raiders territory.

But the Oilers missed every chance —wasting one on a fake field goal and pass that fell incomplete and another when Thoms intercepted Pastorini on the Raiders 26.

"I was embarrassed, I'll tell you," Peterson said, shaking his head. "When you can't score from the two-yard line, you ain't got a chance. We didn't even get a field goal — nothing to give our boys a lift."

But the Raiders had trouble, too, most of the first half, having only a 46-yard field goal by George Blanda until the final 10 seconds of the half. Then Villapiano intercepted a Pastorini pass on the Houston 28 and returned it to the 16.

On the next play, Lamonica hit Biletnikoff in the corner of the end zone on a pass they had worked on all week and it was 10-0 with four seconds to go. Blanda kicked a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter and Oakland sealed it with three touchdowns in the final period.

Pastorini had the worst night of his career, completing only three of 21 passes for 31 yards while having four intercepted and being thrown three times for 26 yards. Reserve Kent Nix also was sacked once for six yards and the Oilers finished with a minus one yard passing.

Biletnikoff, who played for Peterson at Florida State nine years ago, had a tip for his old coach. "Tell him to play Rhett Dawson (an Oilers rookie receiver from Florida State). He needs somebody to catch the ball."

Sailing Classes Get Underway In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Sea and Ski Club was to begin instructions today for students of sailing in the new Mill Valley Middle School.

Classes will be offered, in conjunction with the school's physical education program, at 8:15 a.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays throughout the term, according to instructor Jack Benjamin.

The Sea and Ski Club is beginning to collect books for a sailing library at the Middle School and is seeking donations of books from the community.

Pirate Kudos To Sanguillen

By MILTON RICHMAN

CINCINNATI (UPI)—By this time, some of the thrill is gone, some of the novelty has worn off for the pennant-poised Pittsburgh Pirates.

You might even say they're a bit blase.

Maybe it's because they won the World Championship last year and are working on the second straight one now. Who knows? The big thing is they don't seem to get excited so much anymore.

But what happened Monday was something else. Something special. It had to be to make the Pirate players jump up and down the way they did. They were all happy. they were all yelling at the same time. Some of the sounds which rocked the Pittsburgh dugout were like the ones you hear coming from house parties every New Year's Eve right at midnight.

"That a way to go, Sangie!"

"You stuck it to 'em baby!"

Recipient of this unbridled, ear-splitting reception was Manny Sanguillen, Pittsburgh's perpetually happy, extraordinarily outgoing Panamanian-born catcher.

Typically, he was laughing when he trotted back into the dugout and was immediately overwhelmed by those wishing to pound him on the back or shake his hand. He knew he hadn't gotten a base hit of course, but he also realized what all this was about. His playing colleagues were letting him know they knew he had busted his fanny barreling-down the first base line.

He busted it so much, he beat a hurried eighth inning relay from Cincinnati second baseman Joe Morgan trying for a double play, and although Sangie wasn't credited with a hit, merely a fielder's choice, his all out effort enabled pinch runner Gene Clines to score from third base with the run that gave the Pirates a 3-2 conquest and put them in prime position to wrap up the whole thing today.

Sanguillen, who led off the fifth with a homer for the Pirates' first run, was much prouder of his run-producing fielder's choice.

Still puffing from his sprint down the line when he returned to the dugout, the husky Pirate receiver stopped in front of pitcher Steve Blass, conqueror of the Reds in Saturday's 5-1 opener.

"Stevie," Sangillen said, his breath coming in short bursts, "if I don't run hard, sure theeng double dip, double play..."

Blass nodded. He knew what Sanguillen meant.

Like all the other Pittsburgh players, Steve Blass appreciates Manny Sanguillen. He appreciates his unusual ability, his delightful outlook on life and his remarkable even temperament.

"He's just a happy soul," says Blass. "He's simply a happy, optimistic person who keeps looking on the bright side of everything. I remember when he first came with us, he was having trouble with the language.

"We were playing Atlanta, Aaron came up, I was pitching, and Manny comes out and says, 'throw heem double play.' Okay, so what happens? Aaron doubles for three runs. Manny comes out again, he's all upset. 'Oh, no' he says, 'I no say double; I say double play!'"

With his unfailing good humor, Sanguillen has a way of keeping the Pirates loose. With his bat, he keeps rival pitchers loose. This year he had 71 RBIs, seven homers and a .298 batting average that was better than any catcher in the league except for Ted Simmons. Still, it was the first time in five years Manny failed to hit .300.

Nobody has more fun playing baseball than he does.

"I love baseball," he says. "It's great. I like to come out to the ballpark every day. When I come out I talk to everyone, the fans, everyone. Sometimes after the game I go to my car and there are 500 fans there askin' for my autograph. I try to sign for all of 'em, but I get very tired."

49ers Host Grid Giants On Sunday

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The 49ers are hoping for delayed replay when they take on the New York Giants in San Francisco Sunday.

The 49ers, who have lost eight of their last 10 games against the Rams, are now 2-2 on the season.

Sanguillen Hero For Pittsburgh

however, beat Morgan's relay throw to first, allowing pinch-runner Gene Clines to score from third with what proved to be the winning run.

"I didn't think he (Chaney) could get the ball," Sanguillen said after the game, "but I ran for all I was worth, anyway."

Sanguillen's homer over the left center field fence pulled Pittsburgh to within one run of Cincinnati, and the Pirates went to work again in the seventh to tie the game.

Richie Hebner reached first when Reds' reliever Pedro Borbon knicked him on the foot. Sanguillen moved him to second with a single, and both runners advanced on a sacrifice by Gene Alley.

Clay Carroll then replaced Borbon and intentionally walked pinch hitter Vic Davalillo to load the bases. Rennie Stennett beat out a high bouncer and Heber crossed the plate to tie the score.

Both Cincinnati runs came in the third when Chaney led off with a single, moved to second on a ground out and scored on a single by Morgan. After Morgan stole second, Bobby Tolan singled him in also.

Pittsburgh manager Bill Virdon pointed to a throw from outfielder Stennett which nailed Johnny Bench at home plate in the fourth inning as a deciding play.

"I think if he hadn't gotten Bench, it would have been a much more wide open game," Virdon said.

Anderson was in complete agreement with Virdon on that point.

"That was the whole thing," he said, "when he didn't knock John in from third base with nobody out. That's a must."

The Reds put two men on in the fourth inning with one out, but were unable to increase their 2-0 lead.

A's Maxvill Feels No Pressure

DETROIT (UPI)—Dal Maxvill, the man on the spot at shortstop for the Oakland A's, says there's no pressure at all.

"If we don't win, it's all your fault," pitcher Joe Horlen hollered laughingly at Bert Campaneris' replacement for Tuesday's third and possibly last game against the Detroit Tigers for the American League pennant.

Maxvill smiled. "There's the pressure, right there," he said.

Campaneris can't play because he was suspended by American League President Joe Cronin for throwing a bat at Detroit relief pitcher Lerrin La Grow Sunday when Oakland took a 2-0 lead in the best-offive series. He probably couldn't play anyway, because his ankle was swollen from being hit by La Grow's pitch.

"There's no pressure on me," Maxvill said. "I've played enough baseball games the last 10 years. This is just another game you'd like to win.

"I played short all year for the (St. Louis) Cards, about 100 or 120 games," Maxvill said.

"I wasn't shocked when they sent me here," Maxvill said of his transfer from St. Louis to Oakland. "I kigured the Cards might be going into a youth movement and they might want to play a younger guy there."

PRESIDENT NIXON'S LOVE FOR FOOTBALL

SEATTLE (UPI) — A White House aide says President Nixon loves football so much he once told house guests he had to go to work — and then sneaked away to watch New Year's Day football games on television while signing papers.

"I doubt that the President was a tremendous participant, but he's a tremendous fan," said former University of Washington quarterback Tod Hullin.

Hullin, an executive assistant to White House aide John hrlichman, outlined Nixon's football interests in a talk before Puget Sound sportswriters and sportscasters yesterday.

"I feel I know something about offenses and defenses, but I never lose him in any conversation about football," Hullin said.

NBA Braves Add Hewitt, Cut Pair

The Braves trimmed their roster to 12 by waiving rookie center Garry Nelson and veteran guard Mike Davis.

Grid Cardinals Lose Linebacker

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—St. Louis Cardinal linebacker Mike McGill underwent surgery for knee ligament damage Monday and probably will be lost for the season.

McGill was injured Sunday when he made a first-quarter interception in the Cardinals' 19-17 win over the Vikings at Minnesota.

However, Jim Hargrove, a part-time middle linebacker for the Cardinals last year, has agreed to rejoin the team. Hargrove was injured and released following summer training camp.

Grosso Released

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association have released forward Mike Grosso, a free agent. The former University of Louisville athlete played last year with Pittsburgh of the ABA.

FISH AND GAME

We're Ahead Of '71 Deer Hunt Schedule

By AL GIDDINGS

Mary, my wife, and I are alone at Webber Lake, near Truckee. Jim Dougherty of Santa Rosa and Russ Ild of Mill Valley left us last evening; Russ saw one buck, but didn't get a shot. We had it figured that White Rock Lake was about cool enough to start producing some trout, so while our company was here, we gave it a go.

It wasn't hot, but between us we took 15 kamloops, with Mary getting a 15-incher for top fish. Getting to the lake takes some doing. It requires a four-wheel drive vehicle for about six miles of what Jim described as the roughest road he had ever been on. Because of this the lake is rarely fished, and the fish only bite in the late fall. It's a paradise there.

WITH ANDY AND Mary both getting bucks, we are far ahead of last year's schedule when we got our first buck Oct. 12 and the second Oct. 21. I'm afraid to take the gun out of the camp. The Ravendale hunt with Howard Leach of Sacramento starts next week, and a trophy is always possible there.

My son-in-law, Ken Walker, and my daughter, Marylu, are coming up for a week or so. They both have deer tags; now isn't that like getting a transfusion? You old buck hunters know what I mean. My hope is that one of them gets that big one. Neither has gone through the rigors of camping out in the snow and rain, but they have bought a new tent (we may never get them out of it) and all the camping gear necessary, and they say they are ready. There's nothing like taking the family on such an outing. It makes for a close relationship.

INCIDENTALLY, if you are home and gnashing your teeth for something to do, trout plants are scheduled this week in Phoenix, Lagunitas and Bon Tempe reservoirs if the waters are suitable. About 7,500 fish will be planted, so don't put your fishing gear away yet.

I received a note from Marion Souza of San Anselmo. I met her in Marin General Hospital a few years ago, when I shared a room with her dad, Mario. She writes, "I enjoyed your article on the Webber Lake Hunt, and offer congratulations to Andy on his buck. Too bad it was only a forked horn! My fiance, Mike, and I went (she didn't say where) and we were lucky too. We got a five-pointer and a four-pointer while hunting two days."

I've got to find that gal and ask where that "hot spot" is located.

WITH DUCK SEASON opening Saturday applicants for reservations to hunt on state-operated waterfowl areas are cautioned by the Department of Fish and Game to complete applications witp care so they can be properly processed. Among other tips:

Use the pink cards for submitting applications. White sheets are for instructional use only and are not acceptable as applications.

Punch only one area and two date choices.

Submit no more than one application for each area for each half of the waterfowl season. Violators of this rule will be prosecuted and denied access to hunting areas.

IF YOU HAVE submitted an application for a date prior to the delayed opening of an area you may resubmit an application for that area. Make certain that at least one of your earlier choices was for a date prior to an opening so that you won't be prosecuted for submitting two applications.

NBA Veteran Miles Is A Commentator

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Miles, a veteran of the National Basketball Association, will handle the color commentary on this season's radio broadcasts of Baltimore Bullet home games, it was announced Monday.

Miles retired recently after being placed on waivers by the New York Knicks. He previously played for the Bullets and the Detroit Pistons.

Tar Harriers 10th

Marin Tar Runners In Loop Opener

A young College of Marin cross country team will be running for a high Camino Norte Conference finish when the Tars open loop action tomorrow, 3:30 p.m. at Santa Rosa.

An optimistic Tony Bailey, Tar coach, believes: "if all goes well, we can beat (league favorite) West Valley College of Campbell at the end of the year."

The Tars will quickly discover their fate when facing defending champion West Valley and Skyline College of San Bruno in the first MCAL three-way meet. This meet marks the inception of three, tri-meets held on the same four-mile course with each match commencing when the other finishes.

Thus, all conference teams are "in the same place at the same time. This will enable us to compare ourselves with the other teams in the league," Bailey said before assessing his runners' skills.

Marin has three veterans — Vian Collier, Lee Hotchkin and Bob Bunell. Collier, 12th in the Northern California cross country meet at Sierra College in Rocklin last November, is the Tars' top runner.

This trio lends experience to an otherwise young club. Other members are: John Streett, Joe Kinn, John Ladd, Ron Webb, Frank Elias and Steve Du Bose.

Of the six, Streett and Kinn have no previous cross country experience. Du Bose, Weblb and Ladd are freshmen, Bunell is coming back after an injury.

Thus, with apparently untested personnel, the Tars appear to be a question mark. However, after winning seven of eight dual meets last year and starting fast this season, Bailey expresses confidence.

"I'm optimistic about our chances; we've done a fine job in our pre-conference meets, so I think we'll be all right.

Tam Boosters Meet

San Rafael Gridders Lead In Statistic Fields After Loss

It is probably little consolation to the unhappy San Rafael High School football team, which absorbed a 35-12 defeat Saturday, but the Bulldogs have the leading rusher, scorer and team offense in the Marin County Athletic League.

The rusher is fullback Steve D'Ambra, who gained 106 yards in the loss to Redwood to take over the leadership from teammate Jim Grigg with a two-game total of 162. Alvin Price of Tamalpais, who gained a season league high of 125 against Drake, took over second at 144.

The scorer is Craig Saunders, who ran back a kickoff 80 yards to add to his two touchdowns rushing the week before. He has 18 points. Saunders also is sixth in rushing and tied for fifth in receiving.

Tom MacAusland of Drake leads the quarterbacks in attempts, completions, yardage and touchdowns, Dennis Morini of Tamalpais leads the receivers by an astonishing gap, his 11 catches more than doubling the total of the No. 2 receiver.

Terra Linda leads in passing defense and total defense, yielding just 20.5 yards through the air and 125.5 over-all per game. San Rafael is the rushing defense leader at 92.0, perhaps because the Bulldogs don't have to tackle their own ball carriers. By contrast, San Rafael is last in pass defense.

Knicks Face Sonics Without Star Reed

A new National Basketball Association season gets underway tonight, but as far as the New York nickerbockers are concerned it's the same old story.

Team Captain Willis Reed, who missed all but 11 games of last season, was placed on the injured list Monday and will not be available for tonight's opener against the Seattle SuperSonics at Madison Square Garden. The burly 6-10 center has been bothered by tendonitis in his knee, and at this stage his entire future is in question.

Since he was placed on the injured list, Reed must sit out at least five games, and thus won't be able to play at least until Oct. 21.

Jerry Lucas, who subbed brilliantly for Reed last season, will be back at center tonight for the Knicks, who gained the final round of the playoffs against the Los Angeles Lakers last season despite the absence of Reed.

Three other games are listed for tonight's opening program. The Buffalo Braves will host the Atlanta Hawks, the Cleveland Cavaliers will be at home to the Baltimore Bullets and the Chicago Bulls will host the Philadelphia 76ers.

The defending champion Lakers, with Wilt Chamberlain finally under contract, initiate their campaign on Wednesday night against the Kansas City-Omaha Kings.

In other Wednesday games, the Boston Celtics will be at the Detroit Pistons and Seattle will be at Philadelphia.

Growing Pains Face The Seals

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—The California Seals, who have lost their only game so far, will undoubtedly have to absorb more defeats before they start to click.

That's the frank prediction from general manager Garry Young as the team got ready for Wednesday's second game of the season in Minneapolis.

"We've got so many young kids," Young said Monday "that it probably will take us about a month to jell. There are so many new faces, we have to get used to working with each other."

Vancouver took the Seals 3-2 last Saturday. After Minnesota, the Seals play Saturday at Pittsburgh and Sunday at Philadelphia.

Three-Session Public Service Program Slated On Tax Laws

Many wage-earners and small businessmen are probably losing money every year because they do not take advantage of all the tax-saving opportunities available under the law.

That is the theme of a public service program which will be presented for three evenings beginning tonight at Dominican College in San Rafael by the Society of California Accountants. The meetings, open to the public at $1 per evenings, will be held in the college's Bertrand Hall today through Thursday at 7:30 p.m. each day.

Public accountants and other tax experts will discuss such questions as: "How to legally increase your take home pay"; "Are you getting your share of deductions?"; "Do you have enough income to afford a tax shelter?"

Ernest T. Stair of San Rafael is moderator. Sponsors and cosponsors of the evening series are the Society of California Accountants, Marin County Chamber of Commerce, Dominican College, Independent-Journal, San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, Marin County Board of Realtors, Marin Builders Exchange, and Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce.

REDHILL UNION Service Station at Redhill Shopping Center in San Anselmo is under the new ownership of Thedore E. Fullmer of San Rafael, who will call it Ted Fullmer's Union 76 Service.

He took over from Stephen D. Cerruti of San Anselmo, who opened the station three years ago. Cerruti plans to leave the service station business and enter the sales field.

Fullmer was in the music business for 26 years, largely in wholesale distribution of records and tapes. He has been living in San Rafael for the past 15 years.

Fullmer's Union 76 is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. to midnight. It provides brakes repair, wheel alignment, tune-up and auto care service. "Honesty and reliability of service is our motto," said Fullmer.

BARCLAYS BANK of California will open its first Marin County branch at Redhill Shopping Center in San Anselmo the first of next year.

Thomas Zarraonandia, vice president in charge of properties, said the working drawings are being completed, to be submitted to the city of San Anselmo for approval. If all goes well, he hopes to have the bank open for business next January, adjacent to the Safeway store.

The one-story building is being designed by Store Planning Associates, which is associated with John S. Bolles and Associates of San Francisco. Architect is William Nilsen of Novato.

The new bank, which will be the 26th in the Barclay chain, will have about 4,000 square feet of floor space. It will have both a drive-in and a walk-up window. The exterior design will blend in with the rest of the buildings at the shopping center.

WILLIAM M. CLEMENS, business manager of the Independent-Journal, has been elected to membership in the Institute of Newspaper Controllers and Finance Officers. The Institute is the international press association for financial, accounting and business management.

THE FIG LEAF hairstyling shop at Lark Creek Shoppes near Lark Creek Inn is closed to barbering until Nov. 3, but it's for a good cause.

The shop owner and hair stylist, John P. Jenkins, is attending the Fiedol Sasson hairstyling school in London for a month. During his absence, The Fig Leaf is open only for the sale of vitamins and cosmetics for the hair and skin.

RICAHRD D. BUCKWALTER of San Rafael, vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's head office data processing division in San Francisco, graduated from the Pacific Coast School of Banking in Seattle, Wash.

The school, sponsored by the bankers associations of 10 Western states, requires a three-year course in advanced banking and management subjects for graduation.

Buckwalter joined Wells Fargo Bank in 1956 and has served in data processing for the past nine years.

THOMAS E. HONEY of Sausalito has been named assistant vice president of the Bank of California's marketing division at 400 California Street, San Francisco.

RALPH W. SHARP of Novato was promoted to operations officer at the Montecito Center Bank of America in San Rafael. He succeeded Floyd Mark, who resigned.

PETER ATTELL of Novato has joined the Greenbrae office residential sales staff of Frank Howard Allen and Co. Realtors. A lifetime resident of Marin, he has been in Central Marin real estate for six years.

He is the younger brother of Mervyn Attell, who is with Gallagher-Sturiale Realtors in San Anselmo.

DONALD D. CRAWFORD of Sausalito has been elected vice president and trust officer of the trust division of The Bank of California's head office in San Francisco.

Crawford joined the Bank's trust division in 1956 and was appointed assistant secretary in 1960. He was promoted to assistant trust officer in 1962 and to trust officer in 1965.

RENOVATION of Old Brown's Furniture building at 30 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley into a series of smart boutiques will be an asset to the community, Mayor Jean Barnard of Mill Valley declared recently at groundbreaking ceremonies. The renovated shopping area, to be ready next spring, will be called The Old Brown's Store.

LATEST IN SOUND EQUIPMENT

Pacific Stereo's newest store opened Friday in San Rafael at 811 Francisco Boulevard with a champagne party. Store manager Stephen Satterlee and Janet Cooper, secretary-cashier, test the big array of equipment for quality and volume. The store has 6,300 square feet of display and warehouse facilities, including listening rooms. Free off-street parking is available to customers.

Building Pace Will Slow Down

Next year's projected slowdown in California homebuilding, following 1972's unusually high level of residential construction, may outpace the anticipated nationwide reduction.

Security Pacific National Bank's latest estimates point to an annual homebuilding decline of almost 25 per cent in California for 1973, more than double the projected 11 per cent slowdown in residential construction for the nation. Forecasts for this year indicate a 3.2 per cent increase in new statewide housing; nationally, new housing should increase by almost 10 per cent.

"Plentiful supplies of mortgage and construction funds, coupled with relatively low interest rates have prolonged home building activity, despite predictions of a slowdown in California and the nation," said senior vice president Paul J. O'Brien, administrator of Security Pacific's real estate finance department.

"A major portion of this surge in residential construction, which started in 1971, stems from strong public demand for new housing following the tight money years of 1969 and 1970," he said.

Early-Hour Market In Sharp Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) —Prices on the New York Stock Exchange scored a sharp gain today.

The Standard and Poor's 500 stock index was up 0.52 to 110.42.

Volume in the first two hours was better than 5.5 million shares, up sharply from Monday.

An extension of the peace talks between presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris helped spur the rally, analysts said. In recent weeks the stock market has responded quickly and decisively to any developments concerning Vietnam. Analysts said a number of favorable economic indicators, including a decline in unemployment, also helped buying activity.

Prices also moved higher in stepped-up trading on the American Stock Exchange. Northern Natural Gas warrants led the active list, unchanged at 25 3-4 on a volume of 64,000.

On the Big Board, steels improved fractionally. Armco added 1-4, U.S. Steel 1-8.

Motors moved higher. Ford gained 7-8; General Motors 5-8.

Chemical stocks were higher, led by Dow, Dupont, and Allied Chemical, each up 3-4.

Airlines were higher, with TWA adding 1 1-8 and National 1.

Electronics and computer issues remained strong. Westinghouse, Sperry Rand, IBM, Control Data, Burroughs, and National Cash Register gained a point or more. Texas Instruments jumped 3 1-2, Motorola 2 3-4.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Adjustments Can Boost Returns

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My 82-year-old mother holds Bank of America (OTC), Pacific Gas and Electric common (NYSE) and 6 per cent preferred (ASE) and Southern California Gas $1.50 pfd. (PC). She needs to increase her income. What would you suggest? — R.F.

A. The three utilities in your mother's portfolio return 6.7 per cent on average but account for only 22 per cent of her invested capital. Bankamerica, paying a meager 2.5 per cent, makes up the balance.

By selling all but 600 shares of the 1,778 she now holds in this issue she will free $56,500 of her principal. With this I would purchase 370 shares of Lomas and Nettleton Mgt. Inv. (NYSE), 500 Cleveland Elec. (NYSE) and 20 M Boston Edison 9-3/8s of 2000.

These three securities plus the remaining 600 Bankamerica will pay her $4,944 annually compared with $2,098 paid on the Bankamerica shares now held. All told this is a 6 per cent return on capital versus 3.4 per cent currently being received by her.

Q. I now have a $31,000-paper loss on my 1,000 shares of Unishops, Inc. (NYSE). What do you think of the possibility of it ever coming back? — J.T.

A. Having compiled a remarkable growth record, Unishops began to run into problems in 1971. Expansion costs and a lower rate of sales per unit cut into profit margins.

The advance reported in total sales volume resulted from an increase in the number of outlets from 22 in 1970 to 31 in 1971. Expansion planned for this year has been curtailed, with eight rather than the previously scheduled 15 units to be opened.

Through June, sales were up 42 per cent although a 50 cents-a-share deficit was reported. In order to conserve funds the dividend was omitted for the September quarter. Resumption hinges on a well-demonstrated return to profitability.

With the death last spring of the company's founder and chairman, Bernard Kessler, Unishops lost a strong and capable leader. The weakness in these shares has reflected these various setbacks fully. Partial recovery is probable within the next several months assuming earnings turn the corner. Hold.

IMMEDIATE REPLACEMENT BATTERY GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this battery to be free from defects in material and workmanship. If this battery fails to hold a charge Montgomery Ward will: 1. For 90 days from purchase, replace the battery free. 2. After 90 days, to the end of the guarantee period specified, replace the battery, charging a prorated amount—based on time since purchase—of the regular no trade-in selling price then in effect. Batteries used in commercial vehicles are guaranteed on a similar prorata basis for half of the normally specified term. For service under this guarantee, return battery with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.
